WASHINGTON, April 29.—
Across the threshold of the White House stepped today for the first time in history an absolute monarch from the East who holds sway over life and death of all his subjects in Siam.
In formal occidental King Prajadhipok and his consort, Queen Rambai Barni, called to pay their respects to the Chief Executive and First Lady of the world's greatest democracy.

Touch of Splendor
A touch of splendor was given the occasion by the heavily gold-braided uniform of Rear-Admiral Henry V.
Butler, personal naval aide to the King while in the United States, and Col. Campbell B. Hodges, President Hoover's military aide, as they stepped through the portal of the White House. Overhead were foreboding clouds of sprinkling rain but the royal pair suffered no discomfiture, having gotten out of the White House limousine under the White House portico.
Several hundred persons gathered on either side of the portico to get their first view of the reigning royalty.

Queen Attractive
Queen Rambai Barni, attired in a dark beige ensemble matched with a becoming hat, trimmed with tea roses, was the center of all eyes and exclamations of admiration from the crowd indicated that she was the attraction rather than the King.
Their imperial majesties were received in state by the President and Mrs. Hoover together with Prince and Princess Svasti, mother and father of the Queen and members

PA NEW OBSERVES

A pretty lawn, trellises, a fountain and small pool make the Ritchie property, at the corner of South Mill and Reynolds streets, one of the prettiest spots in town. The garden has meant a lot of work and planning, but the result is worth the effort.

It doesn't take long for a crowd of curious to gather once an auto collision occurs. There was an accident at the intersection of North Jefferson and Grant streets last night, and in a few minutes fifty to a hundred cars were parked along the hill and side streets as the occupants got out and rushed to the scene of the mishap.

Beaver, Lawrence and Mercer counties should organize some sort of a fitting celebration once the actual work of construction of the Py-matuning dam gets under way. Success of twenty long years of effort should be properly recognized.

The man on the monument on the public square looked a lot brighter last night. New lights may have been placed in the spotlights that are trained on him.

Postmaster E. W. Crawford is looking expectantly ahead these days to the coming of a federal postoffice site inspector within a very short time.

Local civic and industrial leaders

ing with it sufficient funds to complete the project during the course

R. J. Tully, superintendent of the New Castle Works of the Carnegie of the Pymatuning Dam Bill in the Senate, which in time will be forwarded to the Governor for his signature, marks a very important

HARRISBURG, April 29.—
With two of its most controversial matters—the Public Service Commission and Blue Law amendments—out of the limelight for a few days, the General Assembly today prepared for a session of hard, detailed work.

The House disposed of both matters for the time being by passing the three administration Fair Rate Board bills in its session last night and by voting, 103 to 99, late yesterday, to amend the Blue Laws of 1794 to permit Sunday baseball between the hours of 2 and 5:30 p. m.

Amendment Passes
Sunday baseball was taken up first and gotten out of the way on a postponed special order of business.
The Schwartz Bill, providing for later Sunday milk deliveries, was the vehicle Anti-Blue Law members used to carry through their amendment legalizing Sunday baseball under approval of local authorities.
The amendment legalizing baseball on the Sabbath was proposed by Rep. Sowers, Philadelphia, who led the battle for its inclusion in the Schwartz Bill. Opponents of the amendment, who a week ago defeated a similar move, stood fast but the liberal bloc had increased its strength and after lengthy debate, and after the sergeant-at-arms had

Although he showed a slight im-

"still critical."
Dr. Holmes said he had decided not to attempt an operation unless Diamond started to sink rapidly

At White House

WILL SEE KING OF SIAM TODAY

Hero Of Colorado Bus Tragedy All Shined Up For Visit With President

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 29.—
Bryan Untiedt, 13, hero of the blizzard-stalled school bus tragedy at Lamar, Col., March 26-27, arrived at the White House today to become a House guest of President and Mrs. Hoover.
A White House limousine met him at Union Station and brought him to the main entrance of the mansion at 9:03 a. m. The uniformed doorman opened the door and he walked inside.
He wore a blue suit, a tan cap and highly polished shoes and car-
Bryan is credited with saving the lives of 16 school children by coaxing them to stage boxing matches to keep warm when their chauffeur set out amid the snowdrifts to get help. He was frozen to death en route, however.

Suffered Exposure
He made a fire with the children's school books and when these were consumed he gave most of his own clothing to the younger children who were crying because of the cold.
The children were marooned in the bus 36 hours, during which time five of them were frozen to death, including Bryan's brother, Orsie, nine.
Bryan was in a hospital several weeks recuperating from frost bite and exposure, and his grim face was pale today when he entered the White House to be an overnight guest, or probably longer.
He will be given an opportunity to peek through a window or door at the king and queen of Siam when they arrive today, but it is not likely that he will be invited to the state dinner Mr. Hoover is giving the royal couple tonight.

CEREMONY OCCURS ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Presented With Distin-

can Legion

For the second time since its organization, Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion has presented the Distinguished Service Certificate to a citizen of New Castle for distinguished services to the community and to the Legion. That citizen is Louis B. Round, district manager of the Pennsylvania Power Company, the presentation being made at the meeting of the post on Tuesday evening, April 28th.
While awarding of the coveted certificate comes directly as the result of Mr. Round's work as general chairman of the Armistice Day celebration last November, it is also a public recognition of civic service to this community running back for the past seventeen years. In that time he has given of his time and energies freely to practically every civic project that has been put over in New Castle.

Police and officials of twelve Ohio and West Virginia counties today scoured this area for the three band-

Howard and Neal Bowman, brother members of the notorious Bowman-

Battle of five Mahoning County judges to have Prose-relations between public officials and utility companies reached a climax here today at a were to be questioned about two recent council meetings.

One meeting about which they were to be questioned was the ses-

(Special To The News)
ATLANTA, Ga., April 29.—
Flew into Atlanta from Washington. This is a great old city but it's shot now, with Bobby Jones in Hollywood. But they are going to open up the hotels and stores as soon as he gets back.

They have planted cotton in the golf courses, the chiselers on Stone Mountain have nothing to work on till Jones comes back put Bobby on the horse instead of Robert E. Lee).

My two friends here, Maj.
Cohen and Clark Howell, are just keeping their papers going, just to print pictures of what he is eating, and what he is wear-to me at the field and said,

"Have you seen him? Is he well? When is he coming home?"
Oh, it's terrible here without

Arctic Expedition Appeals For Help

Urgent Appeal For Air Sent Out
By Augustine Courtauld, Wealthy Explorer

(International News Service)
LONDON, April 29.—An urgent appeal for aid was sent out by wireless from the Arctic waste-lands today by Augustine Courtauld, wealthy member of a British Arctic expedition marooned on the greenland ice cap, according to an exchange telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen.

In his message, picked up at Reykjavik, Iceland, Courtauld reported he was "absolutely without provisions."
The message was the first direct word received from Courtauld in days and spurred rescue attempts now under way. Captain Albin Ahrenberg, noted Swedish flier, is preparing to take off from Malmö for Greenland sometime this afternoon, while a rescue ship equipped with airplanes is leaving Iceland during the day for Greenland.

Courtauld was left alone in charge of a meteorological station established on the ice-cap by the expedition last fall. Several attempts have been made to rescue him but all met with failure.

were believed to be dying and four were reported missing today as scores of firefighters continued an all-night battle to quell the flamheavy toll of life last night.

The bodies of the known dead had been recovered, but the full loss of life may never be determined.
Several spectators were believed to have been caught in the blaze. If that is true, their bodies probably were completely consumed by the white-hot flames.

Reports had it that from four to eight persons had not been account-followed the fire made it impossible today to make an accurate check.

Seven persons were seriously burned and two of them are ex-

Quinn Loses In Suit To Recover $1500 Mortgage

Jury Trying Case Brings In Verdict In Favor Of Mr. And Mrs. Conti

MONEY WAS LOANED THROUGH GIBSON

In the case of William Quinn against Joseph and Louis Conti, which was tried before Judge James A. Chambers in county court, the jury brought in a verdict in favor of the defendants on Tuesday evening. This means that the Contis will not have to pay a balance of $1500 on a mortgage twice.

The case was one in which former Attorney Clyde Gibson had loaned $2000 for Quinn to the Contis on a mortgage. The Contis paid Gibson $500 of the mortgage money which was turned over to Quinn.

Later the Contis paid the entire balance of $1500 on the mortgage with interest of Gibson. This money was not turned over to Quinn, and he brought suit to recover the balance from the Contis.

The point in the case hinged largely on whether or not Gibson was Quinn's agent in making the loan. Quinn claimed that he was not. The Contis claimed that he was.

The jury was out less than half an hour.

was struck by the McNicholas car and badly damaged. The more severely injured persons were rushed to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where two of them are still confined.

The injured are Thomas Reese, aged 2 of Ellwood City, broken collarbone and other injuries of an apparently minor character; Harry Flannery, broken nose and other injuries and Mrs. Harry Flannery suffering from bruises and the shock. Mrs. Flannery and the child were still in the hospital today. The condition of the boy was reported as being fairly good.

According to the report made by Mr. Flannery he was enroute east on Grant street at North Jefferson St. behind another car. The other car stopped and he stopped behind it. He pulled up cautiously to Jefferson street and seeing no cars started across North Jefferson street. Then he saw the McNicholas car coming north on Jefferson street rapidly, he states, and tried to get out of the way.

The McNicholas car, according to Mr. Flannery, hit the rear of his machine, badly damaging it, and knocking it up against the northeast curb of the street intersection and turning it completely around.

You're the JUDGE

Bill Glibben and Sol Slithers had been friends and pals from boyhood. So great was their friendship, indeed, that Glibben always stood ready to lend Slithers whatever small change Slithers needed, and Slithers seemed always in need of it. But after a while these small loans had accumulated to quite a sizeable amount, and Glibben began calling on Slithers for it regularly. At last the matter leaked out to mutual friends, until one of them, Hoke by name, stepped in and made Glibben a proposal which Glibben readily accepted. The proposal was that as long as Slithers' debt was not paid, Hoke would pay Glibben a fixed quarterly interest. But Glibben in turn must promise not to trouble Slithers any more, at least not so long as the interest reached him. To all this Glibben agreed, and the quarterly interest began to come in.

But eventually Glibben decided that he wanted all his money at one time. So he approached Hoke about it. Hoke cited the agreement, and pointed out that he was making the quarterly payments and that therefore Glibben must not bother him further. Nevertheless, Glibben sued.

going in for it strong—about 130 boys or more. A school league has been organized and is making progress. They use the well-equipped athletic grounds to the rear of the building for the games.

It would not be a bad idea for the city authorities to give some attention to the matter of better lighting of the corner of Grant and Jefferson streets, especially the east side of the intersection. We believe that a little more light on that corner would eliminate accidents. It is difficult for auto drivers going up the hill to see cars approaching on Grant street.

The holes in the resurfacing of Jefferson street are growing larger. This repair work should be reached in the near future and there will be far less of it to do, Pa. News would opine.

A tooth brush drill by children will be included in the school health department dramatization to be held in the Franklin junior high on May 2. The particular number on the program will be called "The Dental Prophylaxis Tooth Brush Drill."

One man who hesitated to take his dog into a downtown meat market this morning finally decided to tie it outside. For while the canine seemed dubious as to what it was all about.

His bravery was rewarded in bringing four ships to the aid of the burning craft and the crew was picked up by the British freighter Ousebridge, all being saved, according to advices received here by the American export line. The Excelsior, owned by the American export line, was one of the first to answer the tanker's SOS and to broadcast the call for other vessels.

The ships Extavia and Exporter of the American Export line also rushed to aid the fire gripped boat.

"Hurry, hurry assistance—fire raging! all crew safe in boats," was the final plea of the radio operator before signing off just after 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Hours later the entire crew of the Castor was picked up by the British freighter, which messaged an attempt would be made to tow the damaged vessel to Azores.

The judges demand that Thomas be compelled to step aside in the investigation because of rumors which purport to involve the prosecutor in utility company deals.

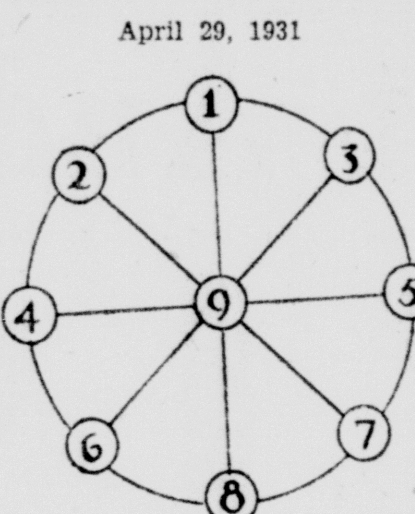

Attempts of the judges to have the prosecutor removed were followed by a series of sensational developments. Among these were the filing of disbarment proceedings by Thomas against Attorney Andrew M. Henderson and two judges, charging irregularities. Henderson then filed a $100,000 slander suit against the prosecutor.

Brain Teaser
Since the path of the moon's orbit around the earth is not identical with the plane of the ecliptic—the plane of the earth's path around the sun—it is evident that the moon must cut or cross the plane of the ecliptic twice in one journey around the earth. Those points where the moon crosses the plane of the ecliptic are known as the moon's nodes. Node means loop. The moon's path makes a loop with the ecliptic. Because all ancient astronomers lived in the northern hemisphere, the moon, when coming north, made an "ascending" node, followed, of course, by a "descending" node as the moon cut the ecliptic on its journey south.

ly," he declared. "They also mean curtailed operations and shrinking profits to business enterprise, for unemployed labor implies also unemployed capital. The worker is both producer and consumer, and when he finds himself out of a job and without income, business has lost a buyer. So the employer who contracts his own operations and discharges his workers, is helping to curtail the market for his own goods and those of other producers, and is thereby further aggravating a situation of which he himself is a victim."

Lamont reviewed the various depressions of the past half century and observed that each had its profits of doom who foresaw nothing by lower living conditions for the coming generation.

Back in 1886, he pointed out, over-production and unemployment caused reviewers to see the world as over-supplied with means of transportation, warehouses, gas works and other utilities.

Large Profits Gone.
"The day of large profits is probably past," one writer told his audience, Lamont recalled.

"Reading these comments now, half a century later," the secretary continued, "it seems almost incredible they were written in the age of zinc bathtubs, kerosene lamps, horse cars, mud roads and cotton stockings."

"There is some comfort to be found, that after these dire predictions, the world really did find something to do the next half century. Despite our rather—because we continued to release labor from the basic industries by further use of labor saving machinery, we were able to invent, produce and sell a host of new comforts which were hardly thought of in 1886."

WILD WELL IN TEXAS BECOMES RAGING INFERNO

W. E. Martin, Pinesville, La.; M. Tom Cole, owner of the land on which the well was located; Emmett Florence, whose home was near the fire, and Pearl Underwood, Kilgore, Texas.

Spark From Drill
The fatal fire started early last night as a double crew of workmen were fighting to shut down the Sinclair No. 1 M. T. Cole Well, which blew in wild Monday four miles southwest of here.

Just as success seemed at hand, a spark from the drill core set fire to the well and trapped the workmen and others inside a 100-foot wall of fire.

The spark, evidently caused by friction, exploded a gas pocket beneath the derrick platform on which the men worked. There was a brief flash. Then, before anyone could realize what had happened, the rushing stream of oil was turned into a column of fire. It showered flaming particles over a lake of oil that had formed around the well and a sea of fire surrounded a score or more of workmen and spectators.

Many Escape Flames
The more fortunate escaped before the flames could gain full headway, but others were burned to death before they could run 20 feet through the roaring inferno. Their screams added to the scene of horror and spectators were stricken dumb as they watched the human torches dart here and there, seeking safety, before they dropped dead. The pillar of fire and the flaming sky signalled their own alarm for miles and thousands of persons rushed to the scene from here and from Longview and Tyler.

The crowd added to the confusion and delayed rescue work. All night the hysterical spectators surged around the well, seeking word from friends or relatives and, unintentionally hampered efforts to bring the blazing well under control.

Hope To Conquer Fire
Within half an hour after the well was fired, dozens of experienced oil field workers were fighting to stop the blaze. Their efforts had not been rewarded today and plans were being made to blast the column of fire.

The well was in a new territory and there were no others near enough to be greatly endangered by the fire. Ten acres of pine trees and underbrush were leveled and one small house destroyed.

It is estimated that about 2,000 barrels of oil per hour were being burned. And while the total property loss will not be known until the fire is conquered, it already had mounted to an estimated $50,000. The fire was confined to the well today, and workmen thought they would keep it from spreading.

Glen Harroun, head of the Sinclair Oil Company production department, was at the well when the fire started. His brother was among those killed.

PYMATUNING DAM TO BE REALITY

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA counties, Mercer, Lawrence and Beaver, in this great industrial valley, are elated today, at the news from Harrisburg that the senate and house have both passed finally the bill which provides for the construction of the Pymatuning dam, and that the governor will approve the measure.

The bill as passed by the senate, yesterday, provides an appropriation of $1,500,000 for the actual work, and it is indicated that just as quickly as possible after the chief executive affixes his signature to the bill, work will be started on the dam.

With the situation such that it is certain that the dam is to be started within the next few weeks, twenty years of plugging effort on the part of the leaders in the Beaver and Shenango valleys is about to be rewarded, and the water supply for Sharon, New Castle, and the Beaver Valley towns, is to be provided in sufficient volume to meet all future demands that may be found upon it.

Consummation of the energies of the past years in the actual construction of the dam at the Pymatuning swamp means much to the future of this industrial valley. It is one of the biggest forward steps that has been accomplished in many years. It should prove a real stimulus to future development of New Castle, both from an industrial and business standpoint.

Lawrence county's representatives at Harrisburg, the Chamber of Commerce here, the civic bodies and agencies that have worked for the project in past years, and at the present time, all are deserving of a large share of credit for the success of the enterprise. Governor Pinchot's statement that he would approve the bill, and his recommendation months ago that the fund be provided for the work, are an evidence of interest of the chief executive in the proper progress of this western end of the state, that is appreciated in this district.

It has taken long hard years of effort to bring the project to the point of success, but it is certain that the reward will be even more than has been anticipated by the most enthusiastic boosters of the Pymatuning dam.

Completion of the enterprise will open up a new era for this section of Western Pennsylvania, and New Castle in particular.

APPROVAL FOR MAYOR JIMMIE

While we are probably not in close enough touch with the municipal affairs of New York City, at this distance, to be an accurate judge of the situation, certain it is that we are not in the least surprised to find that Mayor Jimmie Walker has been given a clear bill on the charges made before Governor Roosevelt concerning his city administration.

It would be rather surprising to find it otherwise. Could a Tammany governor be expected to find a Tammany mayor guilty of incompetency in office?

But, the approval by the governor will hardly satisfy the rest of the country that there isn't a lot that needs correcting in the municipal administration in New York.

Looks a lot like whitewashing!

LOCK YOUR CAR!

For a while automobile clubs were reporting fewer thefts. It was thought that lack of cash for gasoline was reducing the number of stolen joy rides. With the arrival of spring, however, some communities have experienced a sudden jump in the number of stolen automobiles, and warnings are issued to drivers to lock their cars whenever they leave them standing in streets or driveways.

In one city, which may be typical, more than 90 per cent of the stolen cars reported are recovered within two or three days. That supports the theory that many of them are taken to alleviate spring fever, and that the thieves are not professionals but joy-riders.

"While the professional car thief does not care whether a car is locked, the joy-rider always looks for an automobile easy to get away with," says a motor club official. "If the keys are in the ignition or gear shift lock, and all that is necessary is to press the starter, the temptation is great and the answer is simple."

Usually when the car is recovered a few days later it is in very bad shape, with empty gas tank, missing accessories, damaged fenders, and perhaps a ruined motor. A little more strictness about locking up is a simple remedy for the evil.

Reports that money will not buy happiness still lack general confirmation.

You seldom see the grand manner any more, but there is the man who taps the drug store show case with a coin because he is in a hurry to buy a stamp.

Replying to charges of malfeasance in office, Mayor Walker, in 20,000 words, tells Governor Roosevelt the men making the charges are "Socialists." This proves the mayor's innocence.

Who's a Procrastinator?
I Heard a Loafer Sing
He Wasn't Ashamed

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Walking down the road, I heard a song—not a loud Caruso song but a low, sweet, rather monotonous song. I looked around I found the fellow who was singing that song. He was lean, he was long, he was lazy. He was lying full length under a wide-spread oak, with his head on a tuft of grass and his hands akimbo under his head. He didn't look at me, he just sang his song. I didn't hear all of it, but this is what I heard.

"I'm a procrastinator, I put things off. My motto is Never Do Today What You Can Do Tomorrow."

"I come from a long line of procrastinators. My parents were old when I was young. I put off walking. I put off talking. I was late getting started. I grew slowly. I was late getting a job."

"I put off everything. I put off getting my hair cut, getting a shave, buying shoes, shirts, neckties, everything. I never buy a new pair of garters until my socks are hanging 'round my ankles."

"I put off cutting the grass. I put off planting seeds. I put off getting gas in my car and having the brakes adjusted. I put off cold showers. I put off going to bed and getting up again. I've been put off trains because I put off cashing a check and didn't have any money."

"I almost lost my wife because I put off asking her to marry me. I put off worrying. I put off writing letters and also answering letters. I've put off saving money. I get into trouble because I put so much off. I get into terrible jams. I suffer. I hate myself. I swear to do better in the future. . . I get out of trouble under promises of reform. Then I put off keeping my promises and I get into more jams."

"There must be a benevolent spirit in this world that takes care of me. I must be careful not to offend that spirit. I hope he doesn't put off keeping track of me. I'm his Darling Child. I rest in his great, protecting arms and Put Things Off."

"It's getting late. I wish the sun would put off going down. I hope that go-getting wasp puts off stinging me. . . I ought to be going home. I'll put it off awhile. I hope they put off dinner until I get there. . . I know they will. . . My middle name is Procrastination. I'll put off dying. If I can, until I'm as old as Methuselah. Don't worry about me!"

I heard that song. I envied the singer. And then I pitied him and finally I went off down the road, walking briskly, feeling Very Superior. We, of course, don't Put Things Off.

The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Americans must revise their standards of chivalry to escape the wiles of predatory women.

Some days ago a young woman ran screaming from the office of a wealthy business man and fainted in the arms of convenient witnesses.

Revived by good Samaritans, she explained that she had entered the man's office on a legitimate errand and that he had endeavored to overcome her by force when she resisted his advances.

The man's office bore witness of a struggle. Articles from his desk were scattered on the floor; a chair was turned over. And his face was bleeding where finger nails had cut the skin.

Do you know any 50-year-old business man, with brains enough to win a fortune, who would attack a strange young woman in the broad light of day without so much as a locked door to hide the crime?

At night, perhaps, addled by liquor and jazz music and dim lights, one might generate enough enthusiasm to struggle for a kiss—if the lady seemed complacent enough—but to imagine the other scene is to confess ignorance or biology or to assume that the man is a pervert or a madman.

The jury, typically American, believed the girl instead of the man, but juries will not continue to believe.

It is too easy to enter a decent man's office, demand money for silence, and, being refused, to scratch his face, sweep his desk clean, kick over a few chairs and escape to the hall before he realizes what is happening. It is a "racket," and its infinite variations are as old as the art of blackmail.

Sentimental American juries are glib almost beyond belief when good-looking women tell them fairy stories. They encourage blackmail by rewarding it.

The Mann Act is almost bereft of dignity because so many evil women have used it to rob foolish victims. Alimony is fast becoming a synonym for graft because so many women have made it the chief end of matrimony.

And the continued abuse of chivalry will in time cause a revision of feeling that will make courts suspicious of the best of women.

There are evil men in abundance; there are innocent women who deserve protection and compensation; but juries must learn to weigh the evidence in the light of reason instead of assuming that the woman is always truthful and right.

Women In Wet-Dry Battle Stir Interest In Party Lines

Country Is Uncertain Whether Prohibition Should Be Considered Outstanding Issue Of Next Year's Presidential Campaign

Meeting in Washington of a women's organization opposed to prohibition, following a meeting held by feminine supporters of the dry law, arouses interest chiefly in the effect that these activities will have upon the alignments in the major parties in the presidential campaign of 1932. The utterances of the "antis" are studied, especially in their relation to conditions in both parties.

"We have evidence that women are figuring both ways in the impending prohibition contest," says the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, taking note of the statement from Mrs. Charles Sabin that "in five hitherto 'arid' States, these being Nebraska, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee and Washington, Congressional seats have been won by repeal advocates."

The Observer continues: "Her fur-ther claim was that in eight states, representing 25 per cent of the population of this country, prohibition has been repudiated by refusal to provide State enforcement. The wet women are further encouraging the Democrats to put up a wet candidate on the ground that in 1928 no party in any State had embodied in its platform a plank for repeal, while in 1930, in 21 States, platforms embodying repeal planks have been adopted by both Republican and Democrats. In proof she submitted: Democrats in New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Illinois, Wisconsin, North Dakota, and Washington. Republicans in Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Wisconsin and Washington. This was submitted to show that the prohibition issue is cutting squarely across both parties, and Mrs. Sabin shouted in glee: 'It won't be long until we have both of them.' Concluding as forecaster, she predicted that in the next House the repeal group will have 83 Republicans and 77 Democrats and that 22 Senators, evenly divided between the two parties, will advocate repeal."

The NEW YORK EVENING POST quotes Mrs. Sabin as stating that "in this debate party lines are disappearing to the dismay of timorous politicians, whose only strength has been in party regularity," and that paper comments: "As Mrs. Sabin further said, the Drys may take refuge in some 'cy-clone cellar' and assert that there is no change in public sentiment." If they do, they weaken their cause by a blindness that has never characterized the women who are seeking true temperance through the road of 'National Prohibition Reform.' These women have petitioned President Hoover. They are also attempting to line up the women's vote behind anti-prohibition candidates in the 1932 primaries. Apparently this organization will be a political factor not to be ignored in the coming campaign. It has become an article in the politicians' creed that the women of America want prohibition. That was the cry in Finland, too, a few years ago. Can it be true, when we see today great armies of the sex energetically opposing the dry law?"

NO AMBITION?

Have you reached the unpleasant state where the things you can afford to possess do not interest you? Everything you do seems so ordinary that you cannot look forward with pleasure of anticipation or happiness in participation?

Just generally dissatisfied with your lot, that's it, isn't it? When you look ahead it does not encourage you.

You are cynical, blame conditions generally for something you should be able to control or gracefully accept.

If you are well and your income is sufficient, you have no cause for serious complaint.

It is well to have a goal ahead and work for it, but that should not make you blue even though the advance be slow and the climb hard. You need some sort of a spur to your ambitions.

You need inspiration, everyone has just such periods in life. Everyone needs emotional boosting at times.

Sometimes a new friend or a new book, at other times a change of scenery, perhaps just walking home a new way from work will give you new thoughts.

Get out of the dumps, for morbid dissatisfaction ruins happiness.

Chicago Leads With Murders

Chicago Led All Other Cities Of Country For Murders In Month Of March

SLIGHT INCREASE OVER FEBRUARY

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 29.—Chicago led all other cities for having the largest number of murders during March with a total of 20, according to incomplete returns, the Justice Department announced today.

There were 11 murders in Philadelphia, eight in Jacksonville, Fla.; eight in Birmingham, eight in Detroit, seven in Washington, seven in New Orleans, six in St. Louis, six in Paterson, N. J.; five in Los Angeles and five in Baltimore, reports to the department showed. In spite of the criticism leveled at the method of announcing crime statistics in a recent report of the Wickham crime commission, the data for March was issued in the usual manner.

Increase Shown
The total number of murders reported was 302 for the month, a slight increase over February. Out of all crimes reported murders made up five-tenths of one percent, manslaughter by negligence, four-tenths of one percent, criminal assault, four-tenths of one percent, robbery, 3.4 per cent, aggravated assault, 3.4 per cent, burglary, 21.3 per cent, grand larceny, 7.9 per cent, petty larceny, 36.2 per cent and automobile theft, 24.2 per cent.

The figures were only fractionally different from the previous month. ## Nevada Divorces Are Made Easier

New Divorce Law Becomes Effective In Nevada On Friday May 1

DECREE OBTAINED IN SIX WEEKS

(Editors—Following is the first of three stories dealing with Nevada's new divorce law which becomes effective Friday, May 1.)

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
RENO, Nev., April 29.—Speedier, quieter and easier divorces will be legalized in Nevada this week.

A new law passed by the Nevada legislature governing divorce will become effective Friday, May 1. Through its provisions Reno expects to hold its unofficial title of the "nation's divorce capital".

Six Weeks Time.
A survey of attorneys today indicated that more than 350 prospective divorces will be eligible to take advantage of the new law. Their actions are expected to be filed Saturday, between the hours of 9 and 12 and calendared for hearing the following week.

At least two other state legislatures liberalized their divorce laws recently, enabling those unhappily mated to sever their matrimonial bonds after three months residence.

Nevada meets this threat to her divorce supremacy by cutting the residence period to six weeks instead of three months.

In addition, the new divorce law effective Friday, practically eliminates all publicity for those desiring "quiet divorces" and adds a new cause of action to the eight previously existing grounds upon which divorces may be obtained.

Shenkan Talks To Kiwanis Club On Business Status

Better Business Bureau Head Tells Clubmen Of General Conditions

Declaring that our depression is more of a mental attitude than anything else, and strongly advising the tired businessman to retire from active service long enough to refresh himself with new vigor once more, Emanuel Shenkan, president of the New Castle Better Business Bureau and store manager addressed the Kiwanis club in the Elks club today.

Mr. Shenkan took "General Business Conditions of the Day" for the subject of his brief but timely message.

New Castle's business conditions were termed better than they have been for some time and Mr. Shenkan referred to store collection figures as the basis for his statement.

Speaking directly of our "depression era," the bureau head said that in more prosperous times money came fast and it was spent just as rapidly. He said we must adjust ourselves to a new period and spend wisely.

Second Vice President J. D. Reebel presided over the program today in the absence of President C. D. Parker, who left this morning for the Kiwanis International convention at Miami, Paul Cartwright and the Rev. Robert Little, Ellwood City Kiwanians, were special guests.

Nail Ills Caused By Some Forms Of Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The general health of the body, as was pointed out yesterday, affects the nails and their growth. We spoke mostly of the effect of acute diseases yesterday. Some chronic diseases also make a peculiar change in the nails as well as in the ends of the fingers and toes. This is particularly true of certain forms of heart disease, in which the whole finger tips are rounded and clubbed. They are nicknamed drumstick fingers by the medical profession. The nails over these finger tips become rounded and thin, and delicate, and often pale or bluish, and are called egg shell nails.

Some of the same sort occurs in chronic lung disease, such as pulmonary tuberculosis and chronic bronchitis. There is an actual overgrowth in the bone at the ends of the fingers and toes in these cases, and is given the jaw breaker name of hypertrophic pulmonary osteoarthropathy. Here again the nails curve into a beautiful globular form, almost a perfect section of a sphere. Brittle nails which break off and crack give a number of people trouble. Lately it has been found that this condition is often due to a focal infection somewhere else in the body—an infected tooth or tonsil. I know of one patient who was tortured with this trouble for years, for it is not only unsightly, but painful. After the removal of one crowned tooth and drainage of its cavity, the whole thing cleared up and she now has beautiful, smooth nails.

Over-conscientious manicuring often causes nail disease. When you dig down and try to get out every bit of a hang nail and make a nice, smooth surface, you may infect the nail bed. Sometimes this infection may become severe and chronic, forming the old-fashioned disease, whitlow. Treatment is best carried out by prolonged immersion in very hot water several times a day and the application of ammoniated mercury ointment.

Infection of the nail bed by fungi is another cause of brittle nails. These fungi are the same as those causing the skin diseases of ringworm and favus. One or more nails may be so involved. The affected nail may be crumbling and rough and at the root of the nail there is an inflammatory layer of skin debris which is a lacwork of the vegetable fungi.

Treatment must be persisted in for some time, as the condition is very resistant. Tincture of iodine is one of the most effective applications. Bichloride of mercury (1 per cent solution) is also recommended. The overgrown skin should be softened by liquor potassae or salicylic acid ointment. Latent fungus infection of the nails (ringworm) is responsible for many cases of the itchy foot now so common, and which occurs in people who have never done a lick of athletic exercise, but who scratch the sole of the foot or infect it putting on stockings.

There May be Poison in YOUR Bowels!

STEP out tomorrow morning with the fresh buoyancy and briskness that comes from a clean intestinal tract. Syrup Pepsin—a doctor's prescription for the bowels—will help you do this. This compound of fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other mild ingredients will clean you out thoroughly—without griping, sickening or discomfort.

Poisons absorbed into the system from souring waste in the bowels cause that dull, headachy, sluggish, bilious condition; coat the tongue; foul the breath; sap energy, strength and nerve-force. A little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will clear up trouble like that, gently, harmlessly, in a hurry. The great difference it will make in your feelings over night will convince you of its merit.

Dr. Caldwell studied bowel troubles for forty-seven years. This long experience enabled him to make his prescription just what men, women, old people and children need. Its natural, mild, thorough action and its pleasant taste commend it to everyone. That's why "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is the largest selling laxative in drugstores everywhere.

BEARDED IRIS GROW VIGOROUSLY

Written For Central Press By DR. KARL F. KELLERMAN

Bureau of Plant Industries, U. S. Department of Agriculture

In favorable environment, most Bearded Iris grow vigorously. Let too long, they not only exhaust the soil, but form matted masses of roots and one clump crowds upon another. Smaller blossoms and weak growth results.

Division is the remedy for this. The time for dividing Bearded Iris, horticulturists of the Bureau of Plant Industry advise, is immediately after they have produced flowers. This is only by the matter of a few hours work, and the gardener then has an added supply of plants for enlarging his bed.

Removing the plants from the ground, particularly if the clumps of roots are large, is really a job for two persons, each working with a spade or fork, from opposite sides of the plants. Shake out the soil, then separate the roots with a sharp knife. Each division is a new plant. Before replanting it is well to inspect the roots and remove any decay.

The new divisions will do better if planted in soil that has not grown Iris for several years. Trim off about two-thirds of the fan-shaped work, and the gardener then has an added supply of plants for enlarging his bed.

mass of foliage before replanting. This gives the roots a better chance to establish themselves. Bearded Iris do best with shallow planting in well-drained soil. The new divisions will be planted deep enough if their tops are just exposed above the ground.

A light mulch to retain moisture is recommended in regions where summers are dry.

COMPANY HOPES TO START WORK

Assistant City Engineer Confirms Hope Of Construction Heads

Harry Hoskins, assistant city engineer, today confirmed the report that the Victor Olsen Construction Company hopes to start preliminary work on paving projects here next week. Fairmont avenue will be the first job.

Hoskins stated that if there is any delay in starting the work it will be due to the inability of the concern to obtain the steel work necessary.

The company, he stated, does not wish to start grading, then not have the necessary material to immediately follow up that work, which would in such a case keep streets out of commission.

Hoskins stated that the concern can obtain its cement, sand and stone in this city.

L. B. ROUND IS ACCORDED HONOR

been in existence since 1919, the Distinguished Service Certificate awarded to Mr. Round last night was but the second ever given in New Castle, the first having been given to Fred L. Rentz, two years ago. It is the highest honor it is possible for the American Legion to award to a civilian and is regarded so highly by the Legion itself that only upon exceptional occasions is the award made.

To be awarded the certificate by the Legion means that the recipient must be a citizen of proven public spiritedness, that he must have shown a consistent civic consciousness over a long period of years and that he must have rendered an outstanding service to the Legion itself. In all of these Mr. Round more than fulfills the requirements and the resolutions to honor him, presented some weeks ago was passed by the Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343 by an unanimous vote.

In order to avoid the possibility of certificates being awarded promiscuously, or to persons who might fall short of the high standards set, the action of the local post is not sufficient. The notice of the award must then go to the State Commander and his advisory committee. These gentlemen scrutinize the proposed award carefully and impersonally and if in their opinions the candidate proposed for the honor passes all the requirements, the award of the local post is endorsed and the certificate is mailed to the local post commander. In the present instance, following the action of Perry S. Gaston Post, Post Commander Guy Wadlinger communicated with the state department and State Commander Charles I. Engard, with his committee heartily endorsed the proposal. The award was made as a part of the post meeting Tuesday evening with Attorney Glenn Berry, Senior Vice-Commander making the award address.

Born in England
Mr. Round is not a native born American, being born in England. As a lad he came to Canada where for several years he labored on a farm in the province of Ontario. In 1905 he came to the United States, coming directly to New Castle where he was employed in various pursuits for two years.

July 1, 1907 he entered the employ of the New Castle Electric Company as a meter reader, and went from that to meter tester, meter installer, assistant foreman and then was made assistant superintendent of the Pennsylvania Power Company with offices in Ellwood City. In 1916 he was made superintendent in the Ellwood City district.

Upon the consolidation of the New Castle and Ellwood districts he returned to New Castle in 1917 as assistant superintendent and in 1918 was made superintendent, succeeding J. C. Chestnut. When Mr. Round was made superintendent he took the post that had been held until 1914 by Max Pooler who had hired him as a meter reader and under whose supervision Mr. Round was until 1914. Mr. Pooler is now vice president and general manager of the Tucson Gas Electric Light and Power Company in Tucson, Arizona.

Since 1918 Mr. Round has been district manager of the New Castle District of the Pennsylvania Power Company but under his management the district has grown not alone in area, but in service to the public. The district now runs from the Mercer County line south to the City of Pittsburgh and embraces 660 square miles.

Civic Activities
One of the first pieces of civic activities engaged in by Mr. Round was the organization of the Lawrence Rifles, which was organized in 1914. This was the only military unit in the county which was for local service and in it he served from the ranks to a commissioned officer. It was disbanded on November 11, 1918.

His first actual participation in what might be termed a civic duty was early in the days of Liberty Loans. He was appointed by Senator George T. Weingartner as a precinct leader in one of the early Liberty Loan drives. From this he was promoted to a ward leader and handled the Fourth Ward in other Liberty Loan drives, Red Cross drives and the many other drives which characterized the war time activities.

In 1923 the American Red Cross asked him to serve as the general chairman of the Lawrence County chapter and in this capacity he served two terms. About this time the idea of a Community Chest for New Castle was promulgated and when the idea was adopted Mr. Round was asked to serve as the general chairman of the first drive. While the total asked for was not quite reached in that drive this can be ascribed to the fact that this was the pioneer era for this type of community work. In the Chamber of Commerce he has been active for many years and served two terms as a director.

In 1918 he was elected to the Rotary Club and has served this organization as a director and chairman of the Boys Work Committee. In this capacity he was one of the pioneers of the Boy Scout movement in Lawrence County and from the inception of the work has been chairman of the Camping Committee. Other community activities to his credit are the hotel drive for the Castleton, in which he served as a division captain. In 1930 he served as general chairman of the Y. M. C. A. membership drive known as the "Lighthouse Drive." The community golf course felt his influence and he was named by city council as one of the three managing directors of the course.

Aids Military Activities
Some two years ago when Troop F 103rd Cavalry was felt to be in need of community assistance Mr. Round was asked to take the post of chairman of the Civilian sponsor of the troop. This he did with his usual vigor to the extent that Troop F is now considered the model troop of the 103rd regiment and his outline on troop formations known as "The Ideal Troop" is now recognized by regimental and brigade authorities as being the solution of the National Guard problem in communities.

As a mark of appreciation he was named as Honorary Colonel of Troop F by the personnel of the troop.

In 1930 the ex-service men of this city wanted a man to head up the Tri-County celebration of Armistice Day and rather unusually went outside the ranks of the Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars to select a man. Mr. Round was the choice of both organizations and the outstanding success of that celebration is due in no small part to his executive ability, his leadership and his inspiration. His outside affiliations include membership in Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce, the Mercantile Chamber of Commerce, Bessmer Booster Club and the Koppel Outing Club. He is also a director in the Pennsylvania Power Company and a director of the Cathedral Association.

In his busy life he has always found time to aid in civic projects. As a business man he has always felt that he owed a certain measure of service to his community and that measure has always been a helping one. The award of the Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343 American Legion is a graceful tribute of appreciation from a group of ex-service men to a man who though barred from military service in the war has always been in the forefront of peace-time soldiers.

His response to the award last night was a rather brief one, considering the unusual distinction which had been conferred. Perhaps the fullness of the moment was such that it permitted few words. What he did say came from the heart.

Mr. Round is married and with his wife and two daughters resides on Neshannock Boulevard.

Correct This Sentence: "I'll trade you a new car," said the dealer, "But of course I can't allow you anything like the worth of your old one."

Then, too, if you make a better offer of something for nothing, the world will make a beaten path to your door.

P. R. R. Applies To Abandon Train To Mercer, Stoneboro

Place Formal Appeal Before State P. S. C.; No Hearing Date Set

An application for permission to discontinue Trains No. 915 and 994, operating between Cherry street station here, Mercer and Stoneboro, was placed before the Public Service Commission at Harrisburg today by the Pennsylvania railroad. E. & A. division officials said they had not been informed as to the date for a hearing.

The northbound Stoneboro train leaves the city at 10:30 a. m., and the southbound leaves Stoneboro at 2:30 in the afternoon.

The line is unprofitable and there are sufficient bus lines to serve the traffic, the application of the railroad asserts.

Traffic on this once busy line has dwindled to such an extent that only the one daily each way had been run for some time.

If the petition is granted it will mark the complete discontinuance of passenger service on the line.

Six Dwellings Are Destroyed By Fire

Fire Of Unknown Origin, Destroys Six Homes In Harrisburg Suburb

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 29.—Fire of unknown origin today destroyed six dwellings in Lemoyne, west shore suburb of Harrisburg, and for a time threatened to spread through the business section of the town. Emergency calls for fire apparatus were sent out when local fire-fighters feared the flames would get beyond their control.

Four fire companies from Harrisburg, under Fire Chief Millard Tawney hurried to the scene.

Estimate of damage from the blaze was unavailable.

The fire, according to first reports, broke out in a dwelling in the east end of town, near the Susquehanna river, and spread rapidly through three adjoining homes, leaped an alleyway and ignited two more isolated homes.

Lemoyne firemen were handicapped by insufficient water pressure caused by mud in the pipes, and before apparatus could be brought into play the flames had gained considerable start.

Pennsylvania Rural Pupils Well Cared For

Are Given Same Opportunity For An Education As Their "City Cousins"

TRANSPORT MANY TO AND FROM SCHOOLS

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—That the children residing in rural districts of Pennsylvania are being given the same opportunity to attend school as their "city cousins" is clearly shown by a survey of rural school transportation just conducted by the Office of Education as a result of the recent school bus tragedy in Colorado.

The survey showed that a total of 37,728 rural school children are transported annually to consolidated schools in the Keystone state in vehicles operated at public expense. The state ranks ninth among the states throughout the country in this respect.

Pennsylvania has a total expenditure of $1,974,674 annually for transportation facilities, only three other states throughout the country having larger expenditures per year for school transportation than Pennsylvania. The survey showed that transportation facilities are maintained in the Keystone state for 524 consolidated schools.

Pennsylvania has 13,841 school buildings in the state, more than half of which are one-room schools. A total of 7,821 one-room school buildings are located in the Keystone state, the Office of Education reported, only two other states having more such schools.

The state has a total of 55,559 teaching positions, it was said, of which 14.1 per cent are in one-room schools.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

In the early days of New Castle, it was quite the thing to belong to a military organization of some kind. In the first half of the eighteenth century there were a number of these organizations, which were quite active and efficient.

The New Castle Light Artillery made its first appearance on Saturday, August 21, 1847. Captain G. A. Scroggs was the commander. On December 6, 1847, Captain Jonathan Smith, a native of Virginia and a Revolutionary soldier, who has served in many of the battles of the Revolutionary war, died at the residence of his son-in-law, Joseph T. DuShane. He was buried with full military honors by the New Castle Light Artillery.

The next year, the New Castle Light Artillery paraded the streets of the city headed by a martial band composed of fourteen boys richly dressed. The boys of the artillery had been thoroughly drilled by Major William W. Taylor and made a fine appearance. The company was commanded by Captain W. C. Richards.

Mother Of Four Helped By Articles

Helpful Dad, Kid's Pal, Praised By Dr. Myers

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am a constant reader of your 'Parent Problem' and want to thank you for the help you have given me. You have no idea how much your solutions to problems have helped me. I continually save the most of your articles and find them very helpful.

"I am a mother of four, twin boys 17 years of age, graduates from high school at the end of this term; a girl of 16, a sophomore at high school, and a boy of 12 in the junior high school; so judging by such a family you might well see that your help is greatly appreciated by me.

"My husband always has been a good pal to the children and that also has been a great help to me.

"Will you please tell me the price of your book, 'The Modern Parent,' or if it can be had at a library."

Answer: Wonderful to have a co-operating comrade who shares in understanding your children.

The publisher is Greenberg, 160 Fifth Avenue, New York City. You should be able to find a copy in your public library.

IN MEMORIAM

I just picked up the Tennessee Parent Teacher to read of the sudden death of Mrs. John T. Fisher of Memphis, the state Parent-Teacher president. I was shocked. Only a little while ago I was on her state convention program at Nashville and I served a week at her parent-teacher institute at the State University of Knoxville last summer. She was a rare leader and inspiring personality. What pleased me most in Mrs. Fisher was her conception of the P. T. A. as a means of furthering parent education.

She told me with great enthusiasm of her children and the class of 36 boys she taught each Sunday morning. Then she recited many of her experiences in relief work during the 1927 Mississippi flood, mingling with many very touching stories some exceedingly funny ones. Her array of humorous but sympathetic stories, about the colored folk, was rare.

Mrs. Fisher had held important positions on nearly every charitable board in Memphis: president of the board for the Sunshine Home for Aged Men, Wesley House; president of the League of Women Voters; and a member of the Girl Scout board.

Mrs. Fisher was made head of the flood relief by the American Red Cross, and later was cited by the federal government for her efforts in this emergency.

Such is the quality of leadership which parent-teacher work attracts. Much as Mrs. Fisher will be missed in Tennessee, other great women of that state, inspired by her, will carry on. There are one and one-half million Parent-Teacher members in our country.

Children with their governesses, sailors, salesmen, and others were among those who enjoyed the slow rides around the Pond on the opening day.

Dividing Hospital Dollar

The Department of Welfare of Pennsylvania has set up a system of accounting for hospitals. By this system a volume of valuable information is always accessible. For example, the distribution of Jameson Memorial Hospital's dollar during the year 1930 was as follows:—

Administration:
Salaries, clerk hire, office	$0.0770
Housekeeping:
Materials, labor	0.0639
Laundry:
Labor, materials	0.0302
Dietary:
Provisions, salaries, fuel	0.2690
Plant:
Fuel, light, power, water, sundries, supplies	0.1285
Maintenance:
Repairs, supplies, furniture, apparatus	0.0396
Nursing:
Salaries, supplies, books, equipment	0.1910
Pharmacy:
Materials, salaries	0.0222
Medical and surgical:
Supplies, salaries	0.0522
Anaesthesia:
Materials and salaries	0.0192
X-Ray:
Salaries, supplies, maintenance	0.0440
Laboratory:
Salaries, supplies, maintenance	0.0632
	$1.0000

Such figures are significant in that they reflect economy in administration; extraordinary laundry efficiency; most liberal dietary expenditure; a sense of the vital importance of good nursing; acceptance of the responsibility of our hospital to assist our doctors with full laboratory facilities.

The tabulation is significant also in that approximately 10c out of the hospital dollar has not been taken away from the budget for linen supplies—materials and making. All items of linen supply have been furnished by

THE JAMESON MEMORIAL HOSPITAL AIDE SOCIETY.

Former Kaiser Files Charges

Former Kaiser Wilhelm, Files Criminal Action Against Recorder Of Deeds

FAMOUS SIGNATURE WAS DISHONORED

(International News Service)
BERLIN, April, 29.—Determined to maintain his imperial status at all cost, former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany has filed criminal charges against the Recorder of Deeds at Reichenbach for dishonoring the royal signature on a document, it was reported by the newspaper Tempo today.

The document was signed: "Wilhelm I. R., the same form the ex-Kaiser used before the revolution when he was truly 'Imperator Rex' of Germany."

In his action, according to Tempo, the ex-Kaiser levels charges of "property damage" against the recorder of deeds. He claims the official pencilled an exclamation mark and a question mark on the margin of the document near the famous signature.

The recorder held the signature was invalid for registering deeds on the grounds that the ex-Kaiser's official name now is "Wilhelm, Prince of Prussia." The recorder also claimed the document made pretensions to the throne on behalf of the ex-Kaiser.

Despite the recorder's objections, the general law courts accepted the imperial signature as valid.

Pennsylvania Has Less Cattle

New York In '30

That Pennsylvania has an effective dog law, the vigorous enforcement of which is providing protection to the livestock and poultry of the state, is shown when comparison is made of the results in Pennsylvania, under the Bureau of Animal Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture supervision, and that of New York state in a report made known here today by J. Wylie Brewster, local enforcement officer.

New York state, Mr. Brewster said, licensed 417,692 dogs in 1930 against 507,641 in Pennsylvania. New York state has less than 500,000 sheep against 480,000 in Pennsylvania. Dogs killed and injured 21,284 sheep in New York state during 1930 against 5,010 in Pennsylvania.

Poultry killed in New York during the same year was 19,716 while in Pennsylvania the number amounted to 8,966. The difference in other cattle killed and injured was in like proportions.

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Arguments attacking constitutionality of the law requiring the approval of the state council as a prerequisite to the annexation of part of a township to a contiguous city today were on record with the Pennsylvania superior court.

The arguments were entered at the hearing of appeals from annexation of part of Baldwin township to Pittsburgh.

Township residents petitioned quarter sessions court on November 2, 1929, for the annexation to Pittsburgh of an irregular strip of territory comprising part of the Fourth and Eighth wards of the township contiguous to the Twenty-Ninth ward of Pittsburgh. The annexation was decreed July 1, 1930.

The state council of education, however, disapproved the annexation, holding such annexation unnecessary and of no benefit to the school district.

The township of Baldwin and certain taxpayers thereupon filed an appeal from the annexation, contending it was illegal because the act of 1927, amending section 5 of the act of 1903, required approval by the state council of education. Constitutionality of this act was attacked in the argument on behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, the contention being advanced that the school district of the township area was not changed.

Legality of the vote on the annexation also was questioned on the ground the vote was registered in polling places outside the territory to be annexed.

Courage Developed During Depression Has Aided Business

William Butterworth, President Of U. S. Chamber Of Commerce Speaks

Inherent Strength Of U. S. Economic Position Has Been Proved

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

The very curious situation as to California grapes is interesting to all friends of agriculture, as well as to that large group of people who are rabid on the subject of prohibition, on one side or the other.

Here is a case where the overproduction of a particular crop followed a short period of very high prices, helped along by a pretty good selling organization of the growers. Beginning around 1922, vineyards were planted right and left in California, the growers ignoring all warnings that prices could only be held up if production was not allowed to increase.

What followed was just what everybody predicted. As the new vines came into bearing the price of all grapes went into a nose dive, and they have been at unprofitable levels ever since about 1924.

Raisin grapes have been the worst and juice grapes have brought the best prices, most of the time. Nobody has been happy.

A couple of years ago the Californians decided to try what is known as the Grape Control plan, which may be described best as a kind of private or unofficial "McNary-Haugen" arrangement. Without going into details, the growers were to turn over to a selling organization only enough of their grapes to supply the probable demand, thus raising prices to a fair figure. Out of the sales a deduction, or "equalization fee" was to be taken, and this money was to compensate the growers for the unsold part of their grapes.

In a general way, the plan has been a failure, partly because the general business depression curtailed the demand, partly because growers themselves would not get behind the idea.

It was to find a new outlet for some of the grape surplus that growers have been selling or at least offering for sale, grape juice and juice "concentrate." The advertising carefully avoids saying that these products are to be allowed to turn into home-made wine, but of course everybody knows that is the basic idea.

So here is a very interesting and much mixed-up situation, with nobody concerned very happy about it. The grape growers are sore at each other, and still have immense surpluses of all kinds of grapes. The people who have advanced money on grapes, which includes the federal farm board, are worried about their loans. The prohibitionists are worried because the Volstead act does not provide a way of stopping the sale of juice, and the anti's are nervous for fear the government will find a new way to stop it.

Meanwhile the friends of farming are disappointed because one more attempt to control a crop surplus has apparently gone where the woodbine twine.

SOAP FOR SOFTENER

For dish water you will find it handy to mix soap powder and water softener; six parts of first to one of second. Mix enough to fill an empty salt box (one with spout in cover). Cut paper just below cover, remove it, and after the soap mixture is inside, fasten it on again with a strip of gummed paper. This saves time and shelf room.

Hostile Senate Committee Gets Fair Rate Bills

Committee Will Not Consider Bills For Week, May Never Report Them

McCLURE BILL IS READY FOR VOTE

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 29.—Shortly after Governor Pinchot issued a statement charging the "utilities" and their lobbyists are concentrating on certain senators' the Senate today referred his three fair rate bills to the supposedly hostile judiciary general committee. The committee will not consider them this week and it is doubtful that they will ever reach the floor of the Senate.

Bills are referred to committee by the presiding officer of the Senate and in accordance with previous agreement.

Hostile Committee

The Senate Judiciary General committee through a board of managers conducted a three month probe into the governor's charges against the Public Service Commission and political activity of public utilities.

At the conclusion of the probe the majority of the committee submitted a report recommending several marked changes in the present public service commission law and that members of the Public Service Commission be appointed by the superior court.

During the conduct of the committee's probe and after its report the governor charged that the entire proceeding was an attempt to "whitewash the utilities" and expressed strong opposition to having the Public Service Commissioners appointed by the Superior Court.

The Senate at its session today moved forward on its own program to correct many of the features of the commission's administration which have been criticized. The new bill which embodies a number of separate acts previously approved and sent to the house was moved up on the calendar for final action upon it next Monday night. It is sponsored by Senator John J. McClure, Delaware.

Bills Unacted Upon

The new McClure bill proposes to regulate stringently the capitalization and financing of public service companies as well as mergers, consolidations and reorganizations. It also provides for a people's counsel bureau in the Department of Justice which would be charged with representing the public in complaints before the commission.

The senate did not act on any of its bills listed for final consideration, deferring that until Monday night. A heavy calendar of bills on second reading was advanced so that action will be taken on them also at the Monday night session.

The Buckman bill to create a new Delaware River joint commission with New Jersey, replacing the present organization and giving the new body much wider powers than is vested in the one now in existence was sent back to committee for further study if again reported it will be up for final action.

Harris Bill Out

The bill of Senator Frank J. Harris, Allegheny, which would keep polls open on election days until 9 p. m. was reported from committee and passed on first reading. Other bills reported out included the proposed amendment to the constitution which would permit graduated inheritance tax levies and exempt property owned by veterans' organizations from property taxes. It has passed the house.

Another proposed constitutional amendment would permit Pittsburgh to acquire by condemnation proceedings any transit facilities in that city was sent back to committee.

The senate adjourned shortly after noon until next Monday evening at 9:00 o'clock.

Measles Records Fulfill Prophecy

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Records in the bureau of communicable diseases compiled today for Secretary of Health, Doctor Theodore B. Appel, indicate that the State Health Department's prophecy regarding the likely unusual prevalence of measles during the spring of 1931 was entirely justified.

Approximately 5,000 cases of measles were reported in the last seven days, representing a number somewhat in excess of reports for a thirty day period under normal circumstances.

Doctor Appel said that while control measures are exceedingly difficult to apply he has ordered the several hundred health officers to exert every effort to the end that the quarantine procedure be strictly enforced in every case.

The localities most affected during the last week included Lancaster, Chester, Fayette and Lehigh counties.

New England Awaits Bombing As Army Completes Air Plans

By DAVID F. KILEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BOSTON, Mass., April 29.—With plans for the exercises of the new army air division completed, New England is looking forward to the scheduled "bombing" of her coastal cities by the great armada of airplanes of that division.

According to an announcement by the war department, 670 planes commanded by Brigadier General Benjamin D. Foulois will circle New England and the Hudson valley region of New York in "war-time protection" on May 24, 25 and 26.

In New England the division will be distributed as follows: Boston, Springfield, headquarter, observation, pursuit and observation, and Hartford, attack and National Guard observation.

According to plans, the division will leave Long Island for the New England area on May 24. Practically a half day will be given over to the transporting of the units of varying sizes owing to the easier facilities for take-offs and landings offered through this method of operation.

The following day 46 observation planes scheduled for this city will leave for Portland, Bangor and Albany and will remain in Albany overnight on the 25th.

After the observation planes have left this city, a composite exhibition unit of nine bombardment, nine pursuit and nine attack planes will arrive and engage in a combat demonstration over City Point.

The demonstration will be staged over the water to insure a maximum degree of safety and provide opportunity for the public to see the exhibit which will be a realistic rendition of what air battles are like.

The bombers will fly in high and low bombing formations; the attack planes will give a startling exhibit of how these flying machine-gun nests—each capable of pouring bullets at the rate of 6,000 shots per minute—function on earth, hugging, ground-strafting expeditions.

Other interesting features of the demonstrations include attack by pursuit upon bombardment and attack planes. Flying at high altitudes, the pursuers will hurl themselves upon their targets. In these assaults, pursuit engines going at top speed, pursuit engines sweep through the air at a pace of from 250 to 300 miles an hour.

The air armada will leave the morning of May 26 when the division will proceed to Albany by way of Pittsfield, North Adams and Troy. When the division has been assembled at Albany's municipal airport, it will fly over Albany and proceed down the Hudson river to New York by way of West Point, where it will pass in review. Along the river route the division will pass over Hudson, Catskill, Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Newburgh, Peekskill and Yonkers. On reaching New York, the division will return to its air-dromes on Long Island.

"The purpose in staging the field exercises," declared Assistant Secretary of War P. Trubee Davison, in announcing the plans for the exercises, "is to test the mobility of aircraft and to put to a practical test our tactical theories in coast defense operations, a function entrusted to the army at a recent conference in Washington.

"Last the impression be created that the 670 planes assembled in the air division represent the actual fighting strength of the Army Air corps, let me point out that the actual combat units such as pursuit, bombardment and attack comprise only 300 planes. The remainder are observation planes which have a limited offensive value, and transports and other non-tactical planes.

"In staging these maneuvers every precaution is taken to insure the safety of pilots and flying equipment, as well as persons and property on the ground."

SAYS SMELL OF LIQUOR GIVES RIGHT TO SEARCH

(International News Service)
COVINGTON, Ky., April 29.—If a federal prohibition agent smells malt, mash or other ingredients of illicit beverages emanating from a camp, cottage or other building not used as a residence, he has a legal right to search the place, according to Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran. The ruling was handed down in the Northern Kentucky district court here in the case of the government against Thomas Kackler and Joseph Huber. The charge lodged against the pair was based merely on odors.

"We will plead guilty if your honor rules smell is sufficient," said the defense attorney.

"Of course it is," rejoined Judge Cochran.

Dirt Roads On Highway System To Be Improved Within Four Seasons

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)
HARRISBURG, April 29—Decision of the administration to improve all the dirt mileage on the present highway system during this and the succeeding three construction seasons indicates that a big task is to be undertaken. Department engineers say there are approximately 3000 miles on the system that are unimproved.

Governor Pinchot and his Highway Secretary Sam Lewis on numerous occasions have said the department will have little money to spend during the present season. That being the case most of the 3000 miles will have to be surfaced during 1932, 1933 and 1934.

If macadam roads costing on an average of $25,000 a mile are laid these 3000 miles of unimproved highway it will cost $75,000,000 to the surfacing programme. Many miles of road in settled districts according to officials where construction type is expected to be.

The department is re-estimatedly $7,000,000 in federal-aid through the emergency appropriation is estimated to be improve 240 miles of years 1932, 1933 and 1934 appropriation 10,000,000 and $15,000,000.

The money obligation of the federal government in all State highway of 20,000 miles of suggested by an increase in maintenance. With the intention to finish the improvement of all the roads now on the highway system during the present administration it is unlikely that any considerable mileage of road on the new township plan in the next few years will receive anything more than maintenance after becoming part of the highway system on August 15 if the bill is passed by the General Assembly and approved by the governor.

State Convention Spanish Veterans May Come To City

This City Will Have An Opportunity Of Securing Big Gathering In 1932

Annual encampment of the Pennsylvania state department, United Spanish War Veterans, will be held June 17-24 in Gettysburg, Pa. Delegates to this affair will be elected by the local and all other camps of the state in the immediate future.

It is to be the turn of the western part of the state in 1932 to entertain the state department encampment and the western section of the state is said to be generally in favor of it being held in this city. In fact, it is said that this city could have the encampment without the least trouble, if it desired it.

There is some sentiment here in favor of holding of the 1932 encampment here and it is possible that when the New Castle delegates go to the encampment at Gettysburg this year that they may go instructed to ask for the 1932 gathering.

The auxiliary of the state meets at the same time and the Spanish War Vets encampment will mean a thousand or more delegates and visitors in the city for a period of several days. This city has become known far and wide for its hospitality and as a convention city, and will show the visiting veterans and their families a royal good time should the encampment be held here in 1932.

These two photos show three reasons why Florenz Ziegfeld, noted Broadway musical comedy producer, selected Miss Eleanor Holm, 17-year-old star swimmer, for a part in his next Follies. ### Governor Must Act Quickly On State Appropriation Bill

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)
HARRISBURG, April 29—Final adjournment of the legislature late in May probably will force Governor Pinchot to act on the general appropriation bill within a short time after its passage by the House and Senate instead of signing it late in the thirty day period. The new fiscal year begins on June 1 which will necessitate prompt action on the measure.

The general appropriation bill has been passed on two readings by the House and is now back to the appropriations committee. After it has been disposed of finally by the lower house the senate will have to consider the bill.

As a general rule many important changes are made to the general appropriation bill by the senate. These changes must be concurred in by the house before the bill is sent to the governor for his action.

The two legislatures of the Fisher administration adjourned in April. The general appropriation bills in both sessions were passed in the closing days. Enactment of the general appropriation bill late in each of these sessions enabled the chief executive to have that and scores of other bills before him for study during the thirty day period after final adjournment.

With leaders of the general assembly discussing May 21 or 28 for final adjournment it will mean that the general appropriation bill will be speeded along. End of the biennium on May 31 will mean that Governor Pinchot must act on the general appropriation bill by that date in order that salaries and other general expenses can be paid.

VIOLIN TONES AMPLIFIED
(International News Service)

BOSTON, April 29—The ordinarily soft, sweet strains of a Stradivarius violin can be made so powerful that they dominate even the big brass band, according to Orestes H. Caldwell, former United States Radio Commissioner. The secret lies in the attachment to the violin of a radio microphone that responds to all the complex vibrations. From the microphone wires lead to powerful amplifiers which discharge tones of what seems like a thousand violins, Caldwell said.

Verification of the belief that a 23,000-mile wide sun spot causes

Surface Oiling Of Roads Will Begin Next Week

Hope To Push Work To Minimize Interference With Traffic

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Surface treatment of macadam State highways, better known among motorists as "oiling," will be started by maintenance forces of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways next Monday, May 4. Secretary of Highways Sam S. Lewis announced today. More than 3,500,000 gallons of bituminous material will be used.
The schedule for surface treatment calls for completion within 60 days, or about June 30. Lewis said Unfavorable weather is allowed for in making the time estimate, which may be cut by fair weather and faster progress in the work. Early completion in each maintenance district is being urged in order to meet the heavy touring season with clear roads.

Oiling will be done in staggered strips, leaving half the road clear to motorists. The second half will be oiled a day later, giving the first oil a day to bind properly before traffic uses it. This plan results in a minimum of "picking-up" by passing cars and removes the skid hazard present when the entire width is oiled at once.
Motorists will be informed in advance of oiling on each section.
Signs will be posted on the road to be oiled more than a week in advance. One sign will bear the legend
"Road to be oiled within next week."
Another sign will mark "End of proposed oiling." Local residents are thus enabled to avoid the oiled section, planning necessary travel in advance.

Through traffic will be informed of the oiling schedule by means of the weekly detour bulletin issued by the Department. Displayed at service stations, hotels, garages and similar business places, the detour bulletin will be marked in blue over the sections to be treated during the week. Schedules are followed by the maintenance crews as closely as weather permits of earth roads on the State Highway system with a special grade of dust-laying oil has not been scheduled definitely.

BOND BILL VOTE
MAY BE DELAYED

Councilman Burns Leaves For Short Trip To Miami, Florida

Indications are that the bond ordinance which if adopted would increase the bond indebtedness of the city $100,000, will not come to a final vote as Councilman William T.
Burns left last night for Miami, Fla. He accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Clem Parker.
Mr. Parker will attend the Kiwanis convention.

When an attempt today was made to ascertain how the vote would be recorded Friday none of the city solons would indicate the bill would not come up on account of Mr.
Burns, finance superintendent, being away.

gation, which will officially rep-ternational meet, departed for the southern city by automobile at an early hour today.

President C. D. Parker, accompanied by Mrs. Parker and Councilman and Mrs. W. T. Burns, left this morning, while tomorrow Kiwanians H. Lee Marvin and J. C. Lechner, with their wives, will leave by motor.
The 15th annual convention ses-

Election May Disturb Reno Divorces

Present Mayor, Who Believes In Speedy Separations And Wide Open Gambling, Faces Test At Polls As Conservative And Semi-Liberal Oppose Him
In Hot Contest

Milburn R. Gregory
By CAROL W. CROSS
Central Press Correspondent.

RENO, Nev., April 29.—For the first time a mayoralty election in Reno has become of national significance. All because of "fame" gained through speedier divorces and open gambling—by law.

There are three candidates for the highest post in the self-styled "Biggest Little City in the World"—and they don't all agree on speeding up things for those who would separate in a hurry and enjoy a fast life while going through the preliminaries.

Mayor E. E. Roberts, divorce lawyer and militant liberal leader, is relying for his support upon the record of his past eight years in office—the administration which has brought this city into the national spotlight as a playground for those inclined toward the gayeties of a "wide-open" resort community.

Injects Color.

Tall and picturesque, wearing an almost inevitable lapel flower and chewing on an ever-present cigar, the former congressman and school teacher has brought color to the mayor's office here which, in a small way, might rival that of former Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco or that of the other "Jimmy"— James J. Walker of New York.

Mayor E. E. Roberts

The mayor is a sports enthusiast, and as such divides his time between his Reno office, his Reno home, and his ranch in Spanish Springs valley, a few miles from here, where hunting and fishing and horseback riding are some of the attractions.

Added to which, the mayor writes verse of the desert.

And, of course, he is the father-in-law of Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington American league baseball club.

Speaks Straight From Shoulder.

A forceful public speaker, the mayor is outspoken in his views on public morals. He openly supports the gambling laws as "the removal of the mask of hypocrisy from recognized existing conditions."

Howard Doyle, president of the Reno Chamber of Commerce, and head of an automobile dealing concern, is another member of the triumvirate of candidates. Quiet and reserved, he is going about his campaign by pointing to his record as Washoe county commissioner, his term in that office having recently expired.

Supported by the more conservative element, Doyle announced he would make no public appearances prior to the election, and that if

Howard S. Doyle

He also promises a "business-like" administration. Prior to the adjustment of the recent state legislature, in which the Nevada six-week divorce bill and the licensed gambling act were approved, Gregory appeared at a public mass meeting and openly flayed the proponents of the gambling measure.

He was less outspoken on the short-term residence divorce bill, but his views on the measure were generally known to be against its adoption.

Heavy Vote Forecast.

The heaviest vote in the history of the city is forecast by County Clerk Elwood H. Beemer. There are 8,522 persons registered—a record.

The election is looked upon as an acid test of Mayor Roberts' liberal policies as against Doyle's conservatism and Gregory's semi-liberalism.

Parents Manifest Great Interest In Pre-School Exam.

Pollock School Scene Of Much Enthusiasm In Examination Of Children

Parents of the Pollock school district this morning manifested what had every appearance of being the greatest interest and enthusiasm yet displayed, in the examination of the children of pre-school age under the supervision of the health committee of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Added to the interest of these parents, was that of some parents of the Lincoln and Garfield school district, who on Tuesday morning, had been unable to get to that school for the examination of their children and brought them to the Pollock school this morning for examination.

The number examined this morning was sixty-one and the work was carried out in an efficient and helpful manner by the co-operating physicians and welfare nurses, ladies of the clubs and other interested women and the representatives of the International Institute, who proved most helpful in matters that needed the assistance of an interpreter. It is probable that the representatives of the institute will assist at the Croton school on Thursday morning.
These representatives included Miss Emma Moore and her assistants,
Miss W. J. N. Suroczynska and Miss Estelita Abruzzini.

The pre-school examination of children is recognized as one of the most helpful things that can be done for both the child about to enter school and the school district, making it possible to discover defects that can be corrected before the child enters school and means that they will not be hampered after they get into school by sickness.

In time the unmanageable young oxen come to the plough; in time the horses are taught to endure the restraining bit.—Ovid.

Eagles Club Are Ordered Padlocked

Erie, Oil City, Franklin, Kane And Meadville Clubs Under Court Order

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Eagles
aerics in Erie, Oil City, Franklin, Kane and Meadville today were ordered padlocked for one year for alleged prohibition violations by Judge Nelson McVicar in federal court here.

Meadville was the only city in which the entire building housing the aerics was not padlocked.

Judge McVicar offered each lodge an opportunity to reopen after three months by posting bond of $1,000 to insure prohibition officers free access to inspect the premises at any time.

Federal prohibition agents had petitioned the court for the padlock orders.

Girl Reserves Present Program

Ben Franklin Girl Reserve Club Prepare And Give Program Tuesday

The splendid program of songs, readings and dances, presented last night at the meeting of the Girl Reserve Club of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school was quite a surprise to the crowd of spectators, as it was prepared and presented without help by any adult.

A short time ago the Reserves decided to prepare a program entirely themselves. They did it and it certainly was tip top in every way.

Carrie Jane Roberts was chairman of the program. Betty Shoaf, devotionals chairman, was in charge of the devotionals, with the help of Betty Uber and Ruth Hughes, who sang a duet. Those taking part were members of the club.

It was a pleasant surprise to the advisors and the girls were congratulated on the success of the project.

The program follows:

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Allegheny county commissioners today were on record as awaiting the fate of the public service commission legislation before entering five-year contracts with utility concerns for supplying light to the county.

During a discussion of a lighting contract with the Duquesne Light company for the Westmoreland-Allegheny county bridge at New Kensington, Commissioner C. C. McGovern moved to hold the matter in abeyance pending outcome of proposed public service legislation.

McGovern led the fight in Pittsburgh for the election of Governor Pinchot who pledged himself to work for abolition of the commission.

FATHER AND SON RECEIVE GREAT RESULTS FROM WORLD'S TONIC

Suffered From Catarrh Of The Stomach And Head For Fifteen Years

Never in the history of this city has a medicine been so widely discussed as World's Tonic. That it must be a preparation of unusual merit is proved by the enormous demand now shown all over the state.

In a recent interview with the World's Tonic representative, Mr. A. T. Mengel, 415 Deer Lane, Rochester, Pa., said: "I have suffered from Catarrh of the Stomach, which has given me no end of worry and cost a great deal of time and money."

"I was told all my ills were due to catarrh of the bowels and stomach, and I know my liver was affected too. I can tell you this inflammation of the stomach was painful. I gradually lost in weight and strength, and kept getting worse until I decided to try World's Tonic."

World's Tonic has been a blessing to me as I have gained 20 pounds and I am feeling like myself again. The catarrh is getting better every day and I am now having my son use it for his catarrh and blood. He is showing improvement."

Catarrh affects almost every organ of the body and will finally produce a condition known as systemic catarrh. The circulation becomes poor and all the organs suffer. The patient has a generally suppurative feeling.

Sometimes catarrh is a result of chronic malaria and again it resembles nervous prostration. The kidneys become affected, also the bladder and stomach, then comes indigestion, kidney affections, which frequently cause backache, especially after arising in the morning, and other ills too numerous to mention. At the first sign of catarrh such as offensive breath, scabs forming in the nose, contracting colds easily, heavy dull feeling in front of head, weakening of the eyesight, hearing becoming affected, sense of smell and taste impaired, you should do something to check its course.

One of the most rational treatments is World's Tonic, the new systematic treatment that is intended to help act directly upon the mucous membranes. First aid should come through the stomach, causing good digestion, and when this is accomplished, good influence is sent to every part of the body. Get a bottle today.

Sold at Eckerd's, McKee's, Paisley, Smith's drug store and all other good druggists. (A-152)

Woman Appointed Deputy Secretary

Charlotte Carr, New York, Named By Governor Pinchot For Important Post

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, April 29.—Named by Gov. Pinchot as Deputy Secretary of Labor and Industry, Charlotte Carr, New York, former Chief of the Bureau of Woman and Children in the Labor Department, will assume her office next Monday. The post carries a salary of $7,500.

Miss Carr served as bureau chief under the first Pinchot administration but was removed from office in 1928.

According to the Governor's announcement of her appointment as deputy secretary, the removal was made because Miss Carr "refused to pay a political assessment although, as usual, a different reason was given at the time."

Dewey To Take Oath On May 5

Philip H. Dewey, Will Take Oath Of Office As Secretary Of Internal Affairs

HARRISBURG, April 29.—When Philip H. Dewey, Gaines, Tioga county, takes his oath of office as Secretary of Internal Affairs on Tuesday, May 5, he will be the tenth person to occupy that position in 56 years or since the office was created by the constitution of 1874. Of the nine persons who have already held the office, two have served two terms each and two have been elected to the place three times. Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward, of McKeesport, whom Dewey will succeed, will be the only one to complete a third term. The office was first filled in 1875 by William McCandless who served until 1879 when he was succeeded by Aaron K. Dunkle and J. Simpson Africa, respectively, who each served one term. The late Thomas J. Steward took office in 1887 and was serving his second term in 1899 when he was appointed Adjutant General of Pennsylvania. His unexpired term of a few months was filled by Major Isaac B. Brown and in the same year James W. Latta took the office for a term. Brown then came back to the office through election and served from 1903 until 1907 when he was succeeded by Henry Houck who was elected to the place three times. Houck died during the Brumbaugh administration and on June 28, 1917, the governor named Houck's son, Paul W. Houck, Shenandoah, to the place to fill the unexpired term. The latter Houck was a candidate for a full term at the election in 1918, but was defeated by Woodward at the primaries. Woodward took office in 1919, began his second term in 1927. He was a candidate for a fourth term, but was defeated by Dewey at the primary election last year and with ease the Tioga man won at the general election. Dewey is a former master of the State Grange. During the Fisher administration, Dewey was manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund.

Secures Picture Of Young Raven

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Robert E. Leiter, photographer for the Game Commission after several futile attempts has succeeded in obtaining motion pictures of a young raven in its nest. To secure the pictures Leiter was lowered sixty feet over an almost perpendicular cliff near McElhatton, Clinton county. Two years ago Dr. George M. Sutton, Arctic explorer and naturalist and then an attaché of the commission, was severely injured while attempting the feat at the same location. Although the one young raven photographed in the nest was almost as large as a crow, an egg beside it had not been hatched. The raven is almost extinct in Pennsylvania and their nests even when located are usually inaccessible to man.

BLUE LAW TEST IN LEGISLATURE TO COME DURING NEXT WEEK

(Continued From Page One) been forced to go into the corridors to round up members, the amendment was voted into the Schwartz Bill. Under it, baseball, both professional and amateur, is legalized on Sunday but local authorities are empowered to prevent ballplaying by enactment of local ordinances against it. Test Next Week Real test of the Blue Law question will now come next week, when the amended Schwartz Bill comes up for final passage. Passage of the three administration bills for abolition of the Public Service Commission and its supplanting by a Fair Rate Board came last night. Opposition to the bills, which had been manifested Monday night when anti-administration forces battled for hours to amend or commit the measures was still in force, although from the start it was neither as heated nor as well-kept as it had been earlier in the week. After defeating attempts to recommit the bills, the House passed the bill calling for creation of a Fair Rate Board to be named by the governor by a vote of 128 to 61; and approved the third measure, setting up administrative machinery for the proposed board, 120 to 61. All three bills were sponsored by Rep. Staudenmaier, Schuylkill. Philadelphia members formed the nucleus of the opposition to the measures but administration followers, certain of their seat in the saddle, were determined for a ride to victory. Rep. Staudenmaier opposed all effort to delay action on the bills, as did Rep. D. Glenn Moore, Washington. Pinchot floor leader and chairman of the House utilities investigating committee. While anti-administration members attacked the proposed legislation as "reactionary and destructive," and characterized it as "experimental," administration followers sat tight and voted the three bills through in regular order when their opponents' arguments were silenced. The measures now go to the Senate, where they admittedly have less chance of approval. Within Bill Defeated While the House moved through its heavy program, the Senate held a quiet session and adjourned until today without taking action on any important bills. Beside action on the Blue Law and Utility questions, the House defeated, 80 to 106, the Witkin Bill providing for registration and licensing of firearms and passed some half a dozen other minor bills.

Firm states that the new service will rank with the best ever provided in Grove City with early and late mails arriving by rail and mid-day mails to and from New Castle by bus.

Starting this morning, the first mail delivery was one hour earlier to business and residence districts. The rural carriers will leave the office at least 30 minutes earlier. The new railroad schedule is also expected to give Grove City four trains daily also the air mail has also been effected. The new line from New York to Los Angeles with Pittsburgh as a terminal will be able mail placed at No. 1 at 7:50 o'clock here, to be transferred immediately on its arrival at Pittsburgh and to travel direct to the coast.

BUCHANAN FUNERAL The funeral services of Charles Buchanan were held Monday afternoon at two o'clock from the M. E. church by the pastor Dr. Charles E. Petree.

Mr. Buchanan has been a life long resident of Grove City. He was a faithful member of the Grace M. E. church and a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge. He is survived by his father, W. R. Willie confessed to over fifty robberies in New York before going to Los Angeles.

NEVADA INTRODUCES AUTO CARAVAN DIVORCE TOUR

Auto caravan divorce tours are growing in popularity with the new six weeks' time ruling in Nevada for those seeking decrees. Those who come to Nevada now, instead of passing six months in one town, may take along a resident as a "divorce tour guide," file petition for divorce on one side of the state, go for a tour of Nevada and obtain the decree on the opposite border. All that is necessary to do this is to have the witness swear the person never left the state. Top photo shows cars parked in Reno, divorce center; below, a highway east of Reno, route of freedom seekers.

LOCAL LEADERS HAIL PASSAGE OF DAM BILL

The work of Hon. George T. Weingartner, Barton S. Richards, and William S. McElwee in the state legislature should not be overlooked, as they contributed much effort toward the final passage of the bill," he stated.

Chamber of Commerce Elated. In the opinion of L. G. Genkinger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, the passage of the bill is one of the most important economic factors that has ever been secured for this community.

"The Chamber of Commerce has been committed to a program working toward securing passage of this bill ever since the disastrous flood of 1913, as a flood prevention measure. We have also recognized this as an economic measure, because our community had no opportunity to grow as long as we did not have an adequate water supply to attract new industries," he stated. Secretary A. W. Chilton of the Chamber of Commerce stated that he believed the passage of the Pymatuning dam measure will do more to develop the community from an industrial point of view than any piece of legislation that has ever been passed.

The Chamber of Commerce wishes to thank Senator George T. Weingartner and Representatives Bart Richards and William S. McElwee for their loyal support and earnest endeavor in behalf of the bill," he said. "Their interest has been a contributing factor in securing passage of the present measure, and the Chamber of Commerce feels deeply grateful to them for their efforts."

The project is one which the Chamber of Commerce has worked upon unceasingly, along with some of the outstanding citizens of our community who as individuals have contributed their time and efforts toward securing state action in the matter.

The lack of an adequate water supply, which the construction of the dam will alleviate, has been one of the greatest obstacles the community has had to overcome in the matter of securing new industries. We will now have something to offer new industries wishing to locate here and I believe the city will expand along with the industries when the dam is finally completed."

The advantages which will accrue as a result of the passage of the act were clearly outlined by H. B. Richards, superintendent of the New Castle Water Company.

Mr. Richards cited the benefits which will result to industry, stating that the lack of water has been one thing which has prevented New Castle and other towns in the Shenango Valley from securing additional industries in the iron and steel business because they knew there was not an adequate water supply available for their purposes.

"When you tried in the past to impress an industry with the advantages which would be found by locating in New Castle, you had to offset all other factors by the admission that the water supply was inadequate during the dry season. There was no use in hiding these facts because they could easily go to the state and find out the stream flow during the summer.

"The Steel company is forced to use the same water, over and over again during the dry season, until it becomes so hot as to be practically useless for their purposes.

"During the dry season, the normal stream flow is anywhere from fourteen to twenty million gallons of water per day. When you consider the fact that the water company uses five million gallons of this, it doesn't leave much for the steel plants here. They use almost twice as much as the stream supplies and are able to do so only by using the same water over and over.

"The passage of the dam measure will be a great boon to them as it will maintain a normal flow during dry seasons of around 400 million gallons a day, nearly twenty times that during our present dry spells. It will also have a beneficial effect on the water available for the city water supply as the increased flow will dilute industrial and municipal waste and also the vegetable matter which comes from the swamps at the source of the supply."

D. S. Pyle, manager of the Shenango Works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company expressed himself as being very pleased by the passage of the measure, but did not care to be quoted in the matter.

Major Projects On Road Program

HARRISBURG, April 29.—In letting of contracts by the highway department, to be awarded within the next three weeks, are several major projects. One of these is a ten-mile improvement on route 20 in Lycoming, Tioga and Bradford counties. The proposed type of construction is gravel base course with bituminous-treated macadam top. Others of the longer projects are: Eight miles, route 656 in Bucks county; 8.29 miles, route 556, in Elk county (Johnsburg and St. Mary's boroughs); 9.3 miles, route 209, in Warren county; 11 miles, route 220 in Monroe and Pike counties; 10.55 miles, route 122, in Perry and Franklin counties; 9.64 miles, route 49, in Bedford county, from Mann's Choice borough to the Somerset county line; 9.05 miles, route 648, in Lackawanna county. According to a Norwegian scientist's experiments with radio echoes, wireless waves travel more than a million miles from the earth and are then reflected back by a layer of electrons out in space. The first mint is said to have been established by Cyges in Lydia toward the end of the eighth century, B. C.

Civil War Nurse Recalls Fall Of Fort Sumter

(International News Service)
SALINA, Kan., April 29.—Seventy years ago—April 12, 1861—rebel batteries turned their guns on Fort Sumter at Charleston, S. C., and fired the shots which plunged the Union into the Civil War.

This was recalled here on the anniversary of Mrs. Maria M. Moran, 93 year old patient of St. John's hospital, for the capture of Fort Sumter had stirred her patriotism to the Union so deeply that in '61 she answered the call of President Lincoln for volunteer war nurses.

Mrs. Moran now is one of the few surviving Civil War nurses who saw active service on the battlefields of that conflict.

When Fort Sumter capitulated Mrs. Moran was a 23 year old farm girl living near Albany, Mo.

She had one brother in the navy and one in the army. She, too, longed to serve her government. Her opportunity came a few days after the fall of Fort Sumter when the president called for volunteers to preserve the union, including a call for women army nurses. She decided to enlist and gained the consent of her patriotic parents.

At the hospital here, where she has been a patient for the last two and one-half years, Mrs. Moran related some of her experiences as a Civil War nurse.

She told how her father took her from her farm home to Albany where she boarded a stage coach for St. Joseph. News did not travel very fast in that section of Missouri in those early days and the girl did not know that St. Joseph had become a Confederate stronghold.

When she arrived near St. Joseph she learned the town was occupied by 4,000 rebels who were later to help General Price take Lexington. Fearing to reveal her Union sympathies in St. Joseph she made her way across the state to Hannibal and from there took a train to St. Louis. There she was mustered in to service as a nurse.

For three years, Mrs. Moran served with the Union army along the Mississippi river. Most of the time she was stationed in the St. Louis general military hospital. Early in April 1862, she was assigned to the hospital boat Louisiana which picked up the wounded during the battle at the Pittsburg Landing. She went ashore and gave first aid on the battlefield.

Many of the illustrious personages of the Civil War were personal friends of Mrs. Moran. She worked with Mother Bickerdyke, the famous war nurse and knew many noted Union generals.

Reports Seventh Case Of Smallpox

Dr. J. Moore Campbell, Asserts That There Are Seven Smallpox Cases

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 29.—Dr. J. Moore Campbell, chief of the bureau of communicable diseases, said today that the seventh case of smallpox reported in Pennsylvania thus far this year was discovered several days ago in North Braddock. Necessary steps for the proper quarantine of the patient and the contacts have been taken upon the confirmation of the diagnosis which was made by a department physician.

In discussing this case, Dr. Campbell said that except for the imported cases, Pennsylvania would be absolutely free of smallpox. This fact is based upon reports covering several years when the origin of all cases brought to the attention of Pennsylvania authorities has been traced to jurisdiction outside the Commonwealth. So far this year Iowa has been responsible for six cases, Texas for one, and the present case has been directly traced to Fulda, Ohio.

"It is a significant fact that in jurisdictions where compulsory vaccination is required, smallpox is absolutely non-existent so far as native cases are concerned," Dr. Campbell said. "The present unenviable smallpox record in the United States can in no wise be attributed to Pennsylvania; this, owing to the efficient control by way of compulsory vaccination of school children."

The State marketing bureau has assisted communities throughout the agricultural areas of the State to develop adequate facilities whereby farmers can retail their own products locally, and is anticipating even greater demand for this service in the future, Mr. Stuart reports.

Constructive Program Advocated To Prolong Life Of State Forests

By JULIUS L. MEIER
Governor of Oregon.

Oregon, more than any other state, is dependent upon its forests for its economic development and further prosperity. Slightly over 60 per cent of the industrial pay roll of Oregon is derived from forest industries. In the past every big timber state in the union, originally rich in forest resources, has permitted its timber stands to become cut without providing for new crops through a lack of foresight and remedial action. The forest industries then of necessity moved to other states where virgin stands were still available, leaving bankrupt counties behind where the forests had been the principal source of revenue. Most of these states are now attempting, at heavy expense, to grow new timber crops and restore their forest industries.

It is generally recognized that the state of Oregon can, by constructive development of the state forest land policy, maintain indefinitely, instead of for 30 or 40 years, the present scale of forest production with all the correlated industries and pay rolls.

Of nearly 11,000,000 acres of private forest lands, the state records show that about 2,250,000 acres have been logged and about 1,000,000 acres, chiefly logged and burned lands, are tax delinquent. It is estimated that about 25 per cent of these logged lands are now covered with young trees numerous enough to produce a full crop of timber. On the remainder, young timber growth is either too scattered or the soil, or does not exist at all on account of damage caused by repeated fires and lack of any trees to scatter seeds over the land.

The problem confronting the State Forestry board, therefore, is to keep logged-off and burned-off lands productive, as well as to prevent losses of marketable timber by fire.

Another law during the last legislature gives the governor authority to close areas to human entrance during critical periods of high fire danger. This is a progressive step in fire protection, a step toward the prevention of large, disastrous fires.

One possibility on which the state forester is now working is that of selecting experienced fire fighters already on the state or association pay rolls, giving them special training and making them available for immediate transfer to critical points, to the end that small fires may be put out quickly and that any larger fires may be more efficiently extinguished.

church and Dr. S. L. Maxwell, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church.

Rev. C. A. Blackmore, of Erie, who is bringing the gospel messages, took as his topic "The Greatest Power of the Human Being", which he handled in a masterful manner, holding the intense interest of the large audience; he stressed the fact that the influence of one person on another is the greatest human power of man and that this influence does not die when our bodies leave this earth, but shows again in the lives of those with whom you have come in contact with; especially bringing out the influence in home life.

The spiritual jubilee singers carried out the message in song and their numbers were highly appreciated.

These meetings are being held nightly at 7:30, under the auspices of the City Rescue Mission.

Watch Railroads As Fire Menace

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Close attention is being given by the Pennsylvania department of forests to the cleaning up of rights of way along railroads, according to Chief Forest Fire Warden George H. Wirt. Although progress has been made with the cooperation of railroads throughout the state in reducing fire originating from rights of way, the number of railroad fires is still large. The railroads cause annually about 33 per cent of the total number of forest fires in Pennsylvania.

Several of the railroad companies have been active in cleaning inflammable material from the rights of way and providing track crews with fire fighting equipment and in posting fire prevention signs in railroad stations. There is still a great need for a more intensive work along this particular line of forest fire prevention, especially for the closer cooperation between the land owners and the adjoining railroads.

SOLDIER LOSES LEGS NOT KNOWING FRENCH

(International News Service)
ROCHEFORT, France, April 29.—Failure to understand much French has caused a young Senegalese soldier here to lose both of his legs. Arriving recently from tropical climes, the soldier was put on guard duty one cold night last month. No one explained to him that he stood up still as a Spartan and it was not long before his feet were frozen.

For seventeen nights he repeated the performance, not even daring to complain of his pain. Finally he could stand it no longer and collapsed. He was obliged to go to the hospital where both legs were amputated.

Recovery Of Loot Decreases In Value

HARRISBURG, April 29.—The net returns on the operation of criminals like those from legitimate business apparently have been affected by the general business depression, Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police, said today.

Reports compiled from the state police records show that during the first quarter of the present year the value of stolen property recovered by the force was $52,051 as compared with $61,679 in the same period last year. That neither crime nor police activity has decreased, Major Adams cited 4,190 arrests in the first quarter of the present year as compared with 3,627 in 1930.

During the period in 1931 the arrests included 59 for homicide, 122 for robbery, and 1,132 for burglary and larceny, as compared with 68 for homicide, 90 for robbery and 914 for burglary and larceny in a comparable period of last year.

Arrests during the quarter on a charge of violating the prohibition laws totalled 398 as compared with 537 in the first three months of 1930.

Peculiar Suit For Damages In Death Of Child

Parents Ask Damage From Firm Which Sold Rifle Accidentally Discharged

RIFLE IN HANDS OF THEIR SON

Owing to its unusual features more than ordinary interest attaches to the suit of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pecararo against the Cartwright Hardware Company of Ellwood City, which was taken up before Judge James A. Chambers in county court this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Pecararo are the parents of Alfred Pecararo, aged 13, who accidentally shot and killed his sister, Josephine Pecararo, while shooting at a mark with a rifle.

It is alleged by the parents that the rifle, a .22 calibre, was sold to their son, Alfred, a minor, by the Cartwright Hardware Company, and that this sale was in violation of an act of assembly relating to the sale of firearms to minors.

Mr. and Mrs. Pecararo claim that they did not give their consent to the purchase of the gun, and did not know that Alfred had it in the house.

Alfred was out in front of the Pecararo home shooting at a mark. His little sister was with him. While in the act of placing a cartridge in the gun, it was accidentally fired, and the little girl was fatally injured.

As a result of her death Mr. and Mrs. Pecararo are claiming damages from the Cartwright Hardware company in the sum of $5,432.50. The hardware company denies responsibility.

ELLWOOD HIGH WINS AMBRIDGE TRACK MEET

ELLWOOD CITY, April 29.—The Ellwood high track team not only did what was expected of them but they pulled several surprise features in their dual meet with Ambridge high at the Ambridge field Tuesday afternoon with the final count turning out to be 83-58 in favor of Ellwood.

Not once did Todd Lloyd's proteges lose the lead—taking the lead from the first event and maintaining it throughout. As was expected Ellwood took every running event but the 220.

Ambridge was a strong favorite in the weight events, high jump, and pole vault but the local athletes turned the tables and won all the weight events and three places in the pole vault. Ambridge took only 3 first places out of 16, the remainder being won by Ellwood. Ambridge took the broad jump, high jump and the 220-yard dash.

Sam Neff of the local team proved to be a sensation—taking all of the weight events and was individual high scorer with 15 points. Coach Lloyd selected his relay teams as the time for the event approached and each was a winning team. A real thrill was given in the 440-yard sprint relay. Ellwood held the lead until the last lap when Welsh received a bad pass of the baton from Pander. He nearly dropped it but gained his balance and after a thrilling burst of speed he passed his opponent at the tape.

Saturday the track team will engage in the interscholastic meet at Geneva. The team will be there in full force including Mike Dunn and Paul MacMurdo. Ellwood is expected to impress showing as that of last year and will strive toward the goal.

The result of the Ellwood and Ambridge meet follows:—
100-yard dash—Welsh, Ellwood, first; Percelli, Ambridge, second; Brooks, Ambridge, third. Time—10.4.

Bond Issue For Schools Loses Out In Wayne

Proposition To Issue $45,000 For Consolidated Building Is Defeated

FRIENDS OF PROJECT ARE DISAPPOINTED

Wayne township's election yesterday on a proposed bond issue of $45,000 for the erection of a consolidated school building was defeated by a vote of 112 in favor of the issue to 190 against. Four precincts of the township voted on the question, the results being as follows: Second precinct, for, 101, against, 66; third precinct, for, 2, against, 28; fourth precinct, for, 3, against, 60; fifth precinct, for, 6, against, 36.

By the above vote it will be seen that only one out of the four precincts had a majority in favor of the bond issue. In all of the other three the proposition was overwhelmingly defeated. This means that the township will have to get along with the present school system until such a time as there is a change of sentiment.

Returns of the election were filed this morning at the county prothonotary's office.

Kiwanians Have Inspiring Meeting

Receive Attendance Cup—Hear Of Work For Children—Cloak Plays

ELLWOOD CITY, April 29.—One of the most important meetings of the year was held by the Kiwanis club at the Trinity Lutheran church last night.

The highlight of the meeting was the presentation of the attendance cup won by the local club in the mid-west division. The cup was donated by a personage of Sewickley and was presented by Joe Smith, chairman of the club. All those who had the opportunity to view it were highly pleased.

At this time the underprivileged children's committee reported that up to date the club stood the expenses for the removal of 18 cases of tonsils. This philanthropic work by the local club has been its policy for a number of years.

A very interesting program had been arranged for the occasion. Donald Cloak, trombone player and local entrant in the state contest at Altoona Saturday, rendered a few selections at this time. He was accompanied by Miss Leona Davis.

The chief speaker of the evening was Meredith Littlefield of the Ethyl corporation of New York City, who illustrated his talk very cleverly. His talk was on ethyl gas and he demonstrated the effect of ethyl gas with an actual motor. The knocks and vibrations in the motor were revealed by a series of light bulbs. He explained that ethyl gas controls the combustion and acts as a governor on the motor. He also gave the formula for the gas. Nelson Runyan was in charge of the program on this occasion.

Next Monday, May 4, will be known as Kiwanis night and all the organization of the United States and Canada will observe this day with a special program. The local club will hold a joint meeting with the Ambridge and Alliquippa clubs at Ambridge on this day.

John Campbell Hurls No-Hit No-Run Game

Union High Hurler Pitches Team Mates To 9-0 Win Over New Wilmington

SECOND NO-HIT GAME FOR CAMPBELL

For the second time this season John Campbell, scintillating pitcher of the Union high school entered the hall of fame by pitching his second no-hit no-run game Tuesday afternoon when he led his team to a 9-0 victory over the New Wilmington high nine on the Union high field in a county league contest.

Union bunched enough hits in the opening inning to cross the rubber five times. In the third and fourth innings, Union tallied the remaining four runs. Zarembo with a home run and Mateja with a two-base hit featured for the Union team.

The no-hit no-run contest feat is rare in Lawrence county high school baseball. It is believed that never in the history of county baseball has a pitcher hurled two no-hit no-run contests in one season. In shutting out the college town team the Union boys looked impressive.

Firpo And Bruce To Battle Here

Fistic Fans Getting Set For Topnotch Fight Monday Night

FIRPO HAS WON LAST NINE FIGHTS

Henry Firpo, Louisville slugger and Sam Bruce, Buffalo star, will meet in a 10 round bout here Monday night according to announcement today. The match was made last night. Bruce was matched a few days ago, according to his manager, to fight Jackie Thompson for the welterweight championship in Buffalo next month.

When Bruce and Firpo clash there will probably be an answer to the oft-repeated question "How good is Firpo?" Henry has been boxing through the south and has won his last nine fights. In fact Firpo has always been a consistent performer. Bruce is one of the best fighters in the world and the fight should prove sensational.

Efforts had been made to match Haakon Hansen with Firpo but Hansen refused to box. Sam Bruce, who weighs 152 in most of his battles, agreed to take on Firpo if Henry would accept. The match was completed at midnight last night and Bruce will come here Friday to end his training.

Jimmy Thomas of Pittsburgh who has been matched to fight Willie Davis at Motor Square garden will appear against Pete Mazoe of Cleveland in the six round semifinal. Recently they fought a hard main bout at Cleveland. Some fans said Mazoe won and others declared Thomas had won. When they battle here they will be boxing in a neutral zone.

Marshal Couette of Cleveland will take on Buz Hardy of Beaver Falls and it is probable that Ray Rytel will tackle Young DiMuccio. Another bout will be arranged today and fans can look forward to seeing the boxers in action Monday night.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

FRANK NAVIN, president of the Detroit Tigers, who has been spoken of as the probable president of the American League has declared himself. He has been quoted as saying he would rather be the president of the Tigers than the head of the American League because the job demands too much traveling.

THE wrestlers are all gone, some east, others west and those who did not go there went north and south. They have hardy constitutions and can wrestle every night so they claim. The next show at the bowl will be a fine fight and will bring together no other than Henry Firpo vs Sam Bruce.

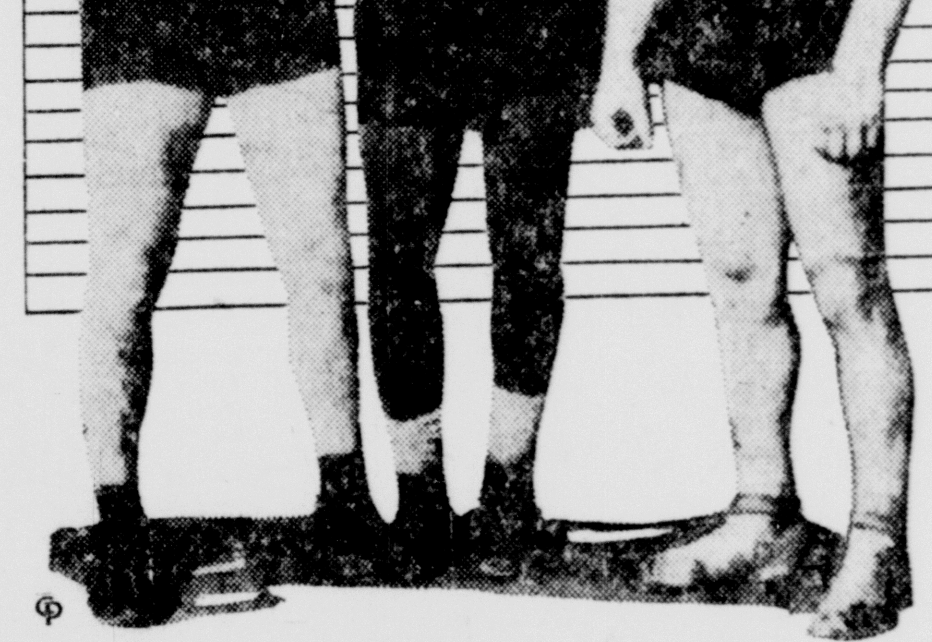

PHIL PERKINS, former British amateur champion and low medalist in the Old Dominion golf tournament was furnished stiff opposition in his first match at Hot Springs, Va., yesterday by Sam Corwin of Richmond, Va. Phil won 2 and 1 on the seventeenth green.

DICK MONAGUE of the University of Michigan, will pitch for Charleston, W. Va., this summer. He received a try-out with the Chicago Cubs and was sent to the Middle Atlantic League.

AS forecast two months ago Johnny Kilbane is now acting as a third man and will make his appearance Saturday when he referees the Joey Ross-Ross Fields encounter at Wierton, W. Va.

CHAMP, MAY-BE CHAMP, EX-CHAMP

A re-crowned wrestling champion, an almost-but-not-quite boxing champion and a former wrestling champion pose together as they train in Boston, Mass., for future battles on mat and in ring. Left is Ed (Strangler) Lewis, world heavyweight wrestling champion, save in New York state; center, Jack Sharkey, who wants another chance at the world's heavyweight boxing title, and right, Gus Sonnenberg, former world's heavyweight mat king.

Sportsmen To Dine Tonight

Expect 800 Sportsmen To Attend Annual Fete At Cathedral

LEFFLER, RILEY TO ADDRESS BANQUETERS

Eight hundred persons are expected to attend the annual banquet of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association to be held tonight at the Cathedral. The banquet will start at 6:30 p. m., after which there will be short addresses by Ross Leffler, state game commissioner, and M. A. Riley, state fish commissioner. Following the dinner motion pictures of interest to hunters and fishermen will be displayed in the auditorium.

At the last meeting of the banquet committee reports were received showing that approximately 800 persons, interested in fishing and hunting, had made arrangements to attend the fete, which is conducted annually and which has always proved enjoyable.

Dine at 6:30 p. m., E. S. T.

The chairman of the banquet committee stated today that the dinner would start at 6:30 p. m., eastern standard time and that the addresses of Leffler and Riley, state commissioners, would be brief, after which the banqueters would adjourn to the auditorium to see the motion pictures.

One of the pictures will be "Alaskan Adventures." It will deal with life in the wilds of Alaska. Another picture will show the bird and animal life of Yellowstone park and a third feature picture will show "Big Game Trails" which were taken in the Canadian national parks.

"The Mystery River" (Nippigon) will also be shown and it is anticipated that the banquet will be one of the most interesting in recent years. The sportsmen's association here has a considerable enrollment and has done much to help hunting and fishing in this vicinity.

Pirates Outthit Cardinals But Wildness By Pitchers Loses Game

SPORTSMAN PARK, St. Louis, April 29.—The up and going Cardinals blasted their way to a 8 to 2 victory over the Pirates here yesterday afternoon. The Pittsburghers outthit the locals nine to five, but their two pitchers Wood and Spencer walked enough men to fill three ball parks, and this was not so good for the cause of the Ensmen.

The Cardinals had two big innings, the third and fifth when they scored three runs in each chapter. Wood pitched good ball for five frames, allowing but five hits, but the Cards tallied seven times in the five smacks.

Grimes pitched a steady game for the Red Birds, and won his third victory of the season. Phillips and Bottomley hit homers.

Former Westminster Floor Star Will Coach Sandy Lake High School

Announcement is made that Kenneth Delahunty, former Westminster College basketball star, and at present coach at New Wilmington, will coach basketball next year at Sandy Lake High school. Delahunty will succeed Carmine Pepe, of Sharon.

The Lake team had a very disastrous season in 1930-31 failing to win a game, but the team was crippled most of the season by illness and injuries.

Delahunty had fair success with the New Wilmington High team, and his many friends wish him success at Sandy Lake. The former floor wizard only recently married Miss Jane Ralston, a Westminster girl.

The final speaker and the principal speaker on the program was Father P. S. Clifford of St. Mary's church. Father Clifford gave the men a very fine talk, direct and to the point, and brought out in the course of his speech the gratitude that the workmen should feel for their employers when their working and living conditions are of the best. Father Clifford traced the beginning of industry back from the beginning of the world down to the present day and brought out very clearly the advantages that the men have today over the old times. He urged the men to take part in athletics and to promote fellowship and good spirit. There is a time for work and there is a time for play, being one of the strong points in the talk by Father Clifford.

The National Radiator management came in for a lot of praise for the fine treatment of their employees. The Father ended his talk by urging more of the men to take part in some kind of athletics, so as to keep them fit for their labors.

Bolsinger adjourned the banquet following the talk by Father Clifford.

Bout Promoters Seeking Rocco

Ellwood City Heavyweight Upset Dope By Beating King Levinsky

ROCCO TRAINING FOR FUTURE BOUTS

Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City heavyweight who upset fistic dope Monday night by scoring a 10-round victory over King Levinsky of Chicago has received several offers to fight in different parts of the country and it is probable that his next appearance will either be a return bout with Levinsky or a third bout with Johnny Risko.

Joe Alexander, new manager of Rocco, realizes the importance attached to the victory that Emmett scored over the Chicago sensational and he is planning the Ellwood City heavyweight's future accordingly.

Tom Andrews of Milwaukee telegraphed Alexander yesterday and offered to send Rocco against Levinsky in a return bout. The terms, according to Alexander were not in keeping with what Joe believes Emmett should receive.

A Pittsburgh promoter also telegraphed and asked Rocco to fight Johnny Risko in an open air show in the near future but Alexander said he would not sign until he had conferred with the Pittsburgh matchmaker.

There is no question but that Rocco's victory was an upset. Practically all the persons who have been following fights had doped Levinsky a winner but things turned out differently.

Both Levinsky and Rocco are good right hand punchers. Rocco succeeded in keeping close and waging an aggressive battle and when the tilt was over received the award.

Levinsky is a big card in Chicago and rates second to Tuffy Griffiths and it is believed that Alexander will try to lay his strings in such a way that Rocco will appear as one of the headliners there soon.

Emmett resumed training today. According to Alexander he is on the road almost every day, trains during the afternoon and when the bell rings at nine o'clock at night the big fellow takes to bed.

Babe Ruth May Return Sunday

Yankees Without Ruth Flounder Around Helplessly, Tie With Senators

INDIANS ADD TO LEAGUE LEAD

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service
Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 29.—Babe Ruth was reported so much improved today that he may be able to return to the lists on Sunday, permitting the New York Yankees to win another ball game. They almost won one yesterday from Washington but after 14 innings they decided to seek safety under the mantle of darkness and thereby escaped defeat for the first time in four days.

Like the rest of the Yank hurlers, Roy Sherid was unable to go the route and went plod in the ninth. After that none of the New Yorkers could do even a poor imitation of Ruth and the affair ended a tie, 7 to 7.

Indians Win
Cleveland lengthened its lead in the American circuit by defeating St. Louis 10 to 9. Myatt, a pinch hitter, driving in the run that won in the tenth. The Browns scored eight runs in the eighth.

Forty-two-year-old Clarence Mitchell pitched the Giants to a 3 to 2 win over the luckless Brooklyn Robins, allowing 11 hits but pitching superb ball when the Robins threatened.

The Phillies tumbled the Boston Braves out of first place in the National league, Jim Elliott getting credit for the 9 to 8 victory.

Burleigh Grimes sent the Cardinals into a tie with the Cubs for first place as he turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates 8 to 2.

Bill Cissell poled the first White Sox homer of the season to down Detroit, 6 to 5. Pat Caraway went the route, chalking his second win. Other teams were idle.

Track Candidates Prepare For Meet

New Castle Cinder Pounders Train Daily In Preparation For Geneva Meet Saturday

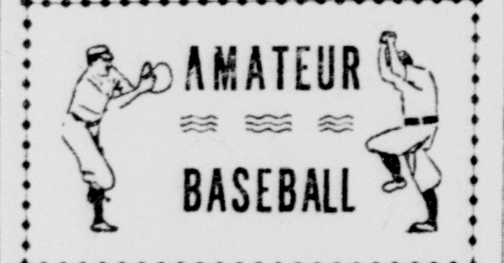

With only a few more days left, Coach William Klee continues to drill his New Castle high school track candidates in preparation for the opening meet of the season for the local team on Saturday afternoon at Beaver Falls when the local cinder pounders will compete in Geneva College's annual meet.

Coach Klee has been faced with a huge task this season due to the fact that a number of his veterans from last year departed by graduation. By Friday the local mentor expects to have a strong team lined up for the initial event.

Louis Greensburg, speed ace who was forced to lay off of training for a few days due to a bad leg is able to train now. Greensburg will likely compete in the century run. Babe Clements, veteran from last season looks good this year again and will compete in the half mile grind and probably in the one mile event.

Luther Rowe is showing up well in the mile run. Andy Lasky and Mike DeCarbo members of the varsity grid team are faring well in the weights. Both will probably enter the weight contests. Scarazzo another speed merchant has been making an impressive showing in the different runs.

Wainio will vie for honors in the high jump and probably the broad jump and pole vault. Coach Klee stated that he will have his team picked by Friday.

One of the best games played to date on the Franklin field was played on Tuesday when the Home Street Stars defeated the Red Sox by a 2-1 score. The contest was a pitchers duel between DeCaprio of the Stars who limited his opponents to three hits while Muse yielded four hits.

DeCaprio featured with a two base swat for the winners while Kelley also hit the ball for a double.

CAPT. V. A. SMITH

Capt. V. A. Smith, who has been instructor at the New Castle Field Club for the past ten years, has been re-named pro for the coming season, by the Golf Committee, and this year will be assisted by Angelo Monsey, sensational young golfer, who has risen from the ranks of the cadettes to become one of the best golfers in the city.

Capt. Smith comes from a distinguished family of golfers, who first saw the light of day at Carnoustie, Scotland, where the British open championship will be played this year. McDonald Smith, Willie Smith, Alac Smith, and several more who are known throughout the golfing world are all cousins of Capt. Smith, and all come from Carnoustie. During the World War, Capt.

Smith was a member of the famous Argyl and Southerland Highlanders, a crack regiment. He was seriously wounded in France, and carries the mark of his wound to this day.

In 1920, he came to the United States and served as an assistant at the Allegheny Country Club at Sewickley, coming to New Castle later in that year, where he has since been located.

Angelo Monsey, who has been named assistant, has been under the tutelage of Capt. Smith for eight years, having started in as a caddy at the Field Club at the age of 12 years. He has served as caddy and later, caddy master.

He is a golfer of no mean ability and has played the difficult Field Course in 73, one under par.

GIRL SUFFERS BROKEN NOSE

Accidentally Struck With Baseball Bat During Game On Lot

Viola Appostolico, 9 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Appostolico of 917 South Jefferson street is in the New Castle hospital suffering with a broken nose which she sustained on Tuesday afternoon in the St. Vitus church vacant lot when she was struck accidentally by a baseball bat in the possession of Carl Felix.

The Appostolico girl was watching a baseball game which was being played in the lot. While Carl Felix was in the act of batting the ball the small girl happened to be behind and was struck by the bat. She was immediately removed to the New Castle hospital.

An operation which was performed at eight o'clock revealed that the girl's nose was broken in two places. Her condition is somewhat improved today.

Chinaman Admits Killing At Butler

BUTLER, Pa., April 29.—Police announced yesterday that Yee On, 42, held as a suspect, had signed a confession, in which he admitted the killing of Yee Wing Lee, 54, Butler Chinese laundryman, on April 12. On, who claims to live in Cleveland, says that he killed Lee because he was unable to collect a debt of $50, said to be owing him for 10 years.

The confession of Lee releases Yee Kin Key and Yee Wing Toy of Pittsburgh, who were placed under arrest after On charged them with the murder of Lee. They are under bond as material witnesses.

Killings Decrease In Washington Co.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 29.—There were 10 murders in Washington county last year, Judge Howard W. Hughes told the constables when they made their quarterly returns, but in 1919, when Judge Hughes was district attorney, there were 54. Judge Hughes complimented the constables on formation of the Washington County Constables Protective Association and said this should have been organized long ago.

Strangler Lewis Ruins Big Gate

Veteran Wrestler Throws Ed Don George And Ruins Match With Jim Londos

NEW YORKERS ARE VERY MUCH PUTOUT

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 29.—Ed (Strangler) Lewis, the perennial wrestling champion who regained the heights by throwing Ed (Don) George in California two weeks ago, is due to receive an unpleasant surprise when he arrives here late this week, the writer learned today.

Instead of being greeted by a brass band playing "Hail, The Conquering Hero Comes," Lewis will be met by several pairs of cold shoulders and a verbal barrage of tomato cans—delivered by his own backers.

It seems that the over-zealous Strangler, blissfully oblivious to the belief of the wisecracks that every good wrestler does what he is told, committed a grievous faux pas by throwing George. To get down to hard figures, he ruined a $100,000 gate which an outdoor match between George and Jim Londos, standard bearer of the rival wrestling group, would have drawn here this summer.

The story goes, back to several weeks ago when the wrestling war got under way in New York. George, then champion outside of New York and Pennsylvania, and Londos were hurling challenges at each other and everything was being steamed up for the big match.

When Lewis headlocked George into submission in a rough bout at Los Angeles, the boys in the back room immediately deduced that the more experienced veteran had been selected to pinch hit for the youthful Michigan collegian against Londos. Lewis evidently had the same idea, for he telegraphed headquarters here the other day that he was ready for Londos.

It developed today, however, that Lewis was not supposed to beat George, and that he surprised even his own backers by so doing. For instead of being offered a match with Londos, the Strangler will be asked to meet George again, according to Jack Herman, local promoter associated with the Sandow-Bowser group.

Scotland Yard detectives detailed to guard Alfonso's arrival at Dover warned spectators, "Keep a respectful distance." Who figures out the proper distance for an ex-King?—The New York Sun.

Pinchot Praises Fair Rate Bills Passage In House

Members Of House Won Great Fight, Governor Pinchot Says Today

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 29.—The people have beaten the grasping utilities two to one in the house.

Governor Pinchot said today in commenting on the passage of his three fair rate bills.

"It is a great and notable victory," the governor asserted. "It is the first real step toward keeping down the cost of living in Pennsylvania. My hat is off to the men in the house who won this fight. They deserve well of the people."

The governor signified his intention of continuing the fight for passage of the bills in the senate where they will be referred to committee today.

"It will not be any easy fight to win," the governor said. "The utilities and their lobbyists are concentrating on certain senators. If the people are to have a chance, they must let their senators know what they want done."

"Remember that this is your fight for a square deal to you, and make your senators understand what you want them to do."

IT is not necessary for The American Oil Company to make wild claims for a regular gasoline. The American Oil Company makes a regular gas of superb quality—ORANGE AMERICAN GAS. It is refined from the finest obtainable oils—under the most modern and efficient refining methods. It sells everywhere at regular gas price—but its day by day performance is a continuous demonstration of how good a regular gas can be.

But The American Oil Company does not say that ORANGE AMERICAN GAS will equal the performance, and economy of a true special motor fuel such as AMOCO-GAS.

AMOCO-GAS, the original special motor fuel, possesses qualities which can never be duplicated in regular or straight gasoline. It is sold at a slightly higher price than regular gas—but the additional cost at the pump is returned to you many times over—by greater mileage, by lessened repair bills and by the increased trade-in value of your car.

So we can afford to be open-minded. We produce two excellent gases at two distinct prices. And whichever you choose—you are assured of completely satisfactory performance. Get one of them today—at most good service stations.

He was later released on his own recognizance and awaits a hearing on Monday. The trouble between Llewellyn and Davis had been carried on for many weeks, according to Llewellyn who made the information against the cripple.

You're the Judge

The court held with Glibben. The judges reasoned thus: Agreements ought to receive the construction which will best effectuate the intentions of the parties. Where parties use language which admits of two constructions the law assumes the one consistent with the intentions of the parties to be the correct one. In this case to construe that the agreement operates as a legal prohibition to Glibben's right to file suit for his money would have the effect of barring him from ever suing to recover that debt, and thus extinguishing the debt. And surely Glibben never agreed to that.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Large Volume Of Sales In U. S. Steel Common

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 29.—A violent selling wave in United States Steel common, which forced that stock downward 6 points in the first hour, was Wall Street's response to the Steel corporation's quarterly statement, issued after the close of yesterday's market. Estimates of net earnings by the big corporation in the first three months of 1931 ranged downward from 80 cents to 30 cents a share.

Not until eight minutes after the opening gong did the first transaction in "Big Steel" appear on the tape. A block of 6,000 shares sold at 121 1/2, down 2 1/2 from the previous close. As further selling orders surged in over the big board, the stock fell to 118 1/2. For a loss of 6 points, this is the sharpest drop in Steel stock in more than a year.

Bethlehem Steel was also sold heavily in this period and fell off to 44, down 2 1/2. Bethlehem's directors will issue the quarterly earnings statement for that corporation tomorrow and stockholders hope for better news than that reported by U. S. Steel. A cut in the dividend rate is expected, and should occasion no unsettling in the market.

Westinghouse showed no tendency to rally and fell off an additional 3 points to 60 1/2. General Electric was strong by contrast with the other stocks in the same group and rose fractionally to 41 1/2. Johns Manville, DuPont, A. M. Byers and other active specialties fell off a point or two as also did the bulk of the active utilities.

Outside of New York Central, which dropped off 3 points to 95 and rallied to 96 1/2, the Rails were comparatively quiet. Pennsylvania fell into new low price ground at 51 1/2, for a fractional loss. Atchafalaya lost a point at 167 1/2.

Stock sales in the first half-hour totaled 500,000 shares, suggesting the possibility of the "selling climax" which Wall Street has been awaiting. With few exceptions the favorites either held firmly at the opening price levels, or rallied slightly in the second hour, but the rallies at best were feeble. Standard Oil of New Jersey refused to give ground and sold in good volume at or near 35 1/2. The balance of the Oil list was inactive, as also were the Coppers, Motors, Tobaccos and Specialties. Union Carbide lost an additional 2 points.

The Cotton and Grain markets were fairly steady; Bonds irregular and call money unchanged at 1 1/2 per cent.

Outside of New York Central, which dropped off 3 points to 95 and rallied to 96 1/2, the Rails were comparatively quiet. Pennsylvania fell into new low price ground at 51 1/2, for a fractional loss. Atchafalaya lost a point at 167 1/2.

Stock sales in the first half-hour totaled 500,000 shares, suggesting the possibility of the "selling climax" which Wall Street has been awaiting. With few exceptions the favorites either held firmly at the opening price levels, or rallied slightly in the second hour, but the rallies at best were feeble. Standard Oil of New Jersey refused to give ground and sold in good volume at or near 35 1/2. The balance of the Oil list was inactive, as also were the Coppers, Motors, Tobaccos and Specialties. Union Carbide lost an additional 2 points.

The Cotton and Grain markets were fairly steady; Bonds irregular and call money unchanged at 1 1/2 per cent.

points to 60 1/2. General Electric was strong by contrast with the other stocks in the same group and rose fractionally to 41 1/2. Johns Manville, DuPont, A. M. Byers and other active specialties fell off a point or two as also did the bulk of the active utilities.

New Castle To Take Active Part In George Washington Bicentennial

Walter S. Reynolds Named Chairman In Charge Of Local Observance

Celebration, Starting On Washington's Birthday, To Last Nine Months

New Castle will take an active part in the George Washington Bicentennial, Attorney Walter S. Reynolds, who has been named chairman in charge of the local observance stated today.

Committees are now being organized by Mr. Reynolds to assist in the observance of the great celebration, which will open on February 22, 1932 and will last until Thanksgiving Day of that year.

Created by special act of Congress and financed by the federal treasury, the George Washington Bicentennial Commission with offices in the national capital is planning for 1932, a celebration which will be unprecedented in extent and entirely original in character and method.

It will be world-wide in its scope. From Alaska to Ceylon, and from Virginia to Japan, wherever Americans reside and human beings respond to the inspiration of a great man's career, honor will be paid to the Father of his Country.

To Relive His Life

According to the plans of the Commission, the whole United States is to come alive with pagantry, through which the figure of Washington will move as he was in life. Every school in America is to be hung with his picture. Every home that housed him, every building in which he spent but a night, is to be festooned with flags and bunting. The battlefields he lost and won are to echo oratory and resound to martial music.

The tribute will be original in character in that the Commission, instead of trying to attract the public to one central point by staking a world's fair, exposition, or entertainment, will take the celebration directly to the people at large in their cities, villages and homes.

To appreciate how this unique commemoration will be accomplished, it is necessary to comprehend the machinery that is planning it. The George Washington Bicentennial Commission is headed by the President, who is chairman, and its personnel consists of distinguished men and women representing all sections of the United States. Its duties, as set forth in the Act of Congress which brought it into being in 1924, are to arouse interest in the 1932 celebration, to formulate and execute plans for its successful observance, and to collect and disseminate information about Washington and his times. Congress also stipulated that the states and territories of the Union be invited to co-operate in the celebration.

This work was begun under the management of two Associate Directors named by the executive committee of the Commission: Hon. Sol Bloom, members of Congress from New York and Col. Ulysses S. Grant U. S. A. After serving a few months, however, Col. Grant presented his resignation, having found that the pressure of the work interfered with other duties. Thus far, his successor has not been named and Mr. Bloom is in sole charge.

National Ceremonies
Mr. Bloom has named Hon. Walter S. Reynolds to head the committee which will have charge of the local celebration and Mr. Reynolds is now busy selecting his committee which will include representatives of the various patriotic and civic organizations of the city, along with city and county officials.

The national ceremonies will begin on February 22 of next year, when from the national capital, President Hoover will broadcast an address on George Washington. Following him on the air will come the United States Marine Band, an organization which existed in Washington's day as a fife and drum corps. The plan is, that as this band plays "America" the people throughout their radios all over this country and the foreign lands will hear it and sing the National anthem to its accompaniment. In that vision of all America singing simultaneously, is conveyed a dramatic picture of what the commission means when it declares that it will carry the celebration to the people.

A film will be made of the life of Washington at Mt. Vernon, using the interior of Mount Vernon for some of the scenes. Copies of the film will be distributed to schools and colleges of the country.

Sixteen pamphlets are being prepared, later to be compiled in a book entitled, "Honor to Washington," which will deal with all phases of his life, as Washington the Business Man, the Religious Man, the Military Man, etc. These will soon be available to writers, students and libraries.

Another phase will be the planting of ten million "Washington Trees" by cities, schools, churches, fraternal organizations.

The Secretary of the Treasury has been authorized to make all quarter dollar coins in 1932 official Washington Memorial coins, with a profile relief on one side and appropriate inscription on the reverse side. This is the first time that a memorial coin has ever supplanted the regular issue of United States coins.

Director Bloom in writing to Chairman Reynolds of the local committee states, "The people will do the celebrating. We shall take pleasure in offering them suggestions and giving them information whenever they want such co-operation."

Makes Comment On Schmidt's Bible

Noted Local Authority Answers Many Queries He Has Received About Book

C. B. Randall, 121 Hazelcroft avenue, a noted authority on books, both old and new, has received inquiries from many persons as to the authenticity of the reported "Luther" Bible which is in the possession of Evangelist Schmidt of the Castle Hill Mission, and following is a letter The News has received from Mr. Randall:

April 29, 1931.
The New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Gentlemen: On page 11 of your issue of April 20 you have an item: "Evangelist Schmidt to sell valuable Bible of 1784 issue." Evangelist Schmidt says he owns a genuine Gutenberg Martin Luther Bible.

Permit me to inform Rev. Schmidt that there is no such Bible as Luther-Gutenberg. The Gutenberg was the first printed book by movable type and finished in 1455. Luther's first edition of the New Testament was printed in 1522, the others in 1541, 43, 45, and of the 1543 edition is the famous Cranich Bible of Luther, which was financed by the Princess of Anhalt; the first print was given to Prince George of Anhalt and sold last year for $175,000.

I am not aware of any valuable edition of the Luther Bible of the date of 1784.
Sincerely yours,
C. B. RANDALL,

The crew of six were taken ashore by coast guards.

The schooner was bound from Boston to Cape May to join the mackerel fleet.

Coast guards said there was no chance to salvage the schooner but that efforts would be made to save $2,000 worth of new nets and other tackle aboard.

The gold mines of South Africa have apparently been worked from antiquity, and must in ancient times have supported a very large population and a much higher civilization than it has known up to our times.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 29.—Frank Garco, 35, of Burgettstown, was sentenced to the workhouse for not more than 8 years or less than 4, when he pleaded guilty to 12 charges of forgery. He conducted an automobile sales business in Burgettstown and admitted he defrauded the Washington Finance Company out of between $6,000 and $7,000. He forged, it was shown, license applications for 12 automobiles which did not exist and then forged the names of leading citizens in the district.

Health Measures Control Typhoid

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Typhoid fever increases which were expected to follow as a result of surface drainage in depleted water supplies have not appeared. Deputy Secretary of Health Dr. J. Bruce McCreary attributed the control in some measure to warnings broadcast by the Department relative to the method of treating water of this type before use.

"While there is the average number of typhoid fever cases in widely distributed rural districts these do not represent an increase over conditions of former years," Dr. McCreary said. "With the unusual possibilities for contracting typhoid fever by reason of the recent drought and heavy rains, the present situation is considered to be extremely satisfactory. The department has offered typhoid vaccine to certain selected communities which in the past have had more than their share of typhoid fever. Distribution of this vaccine will be made in the very near future."
